An important symbol of the Northwood tradition, the totem pole, dominates the court.

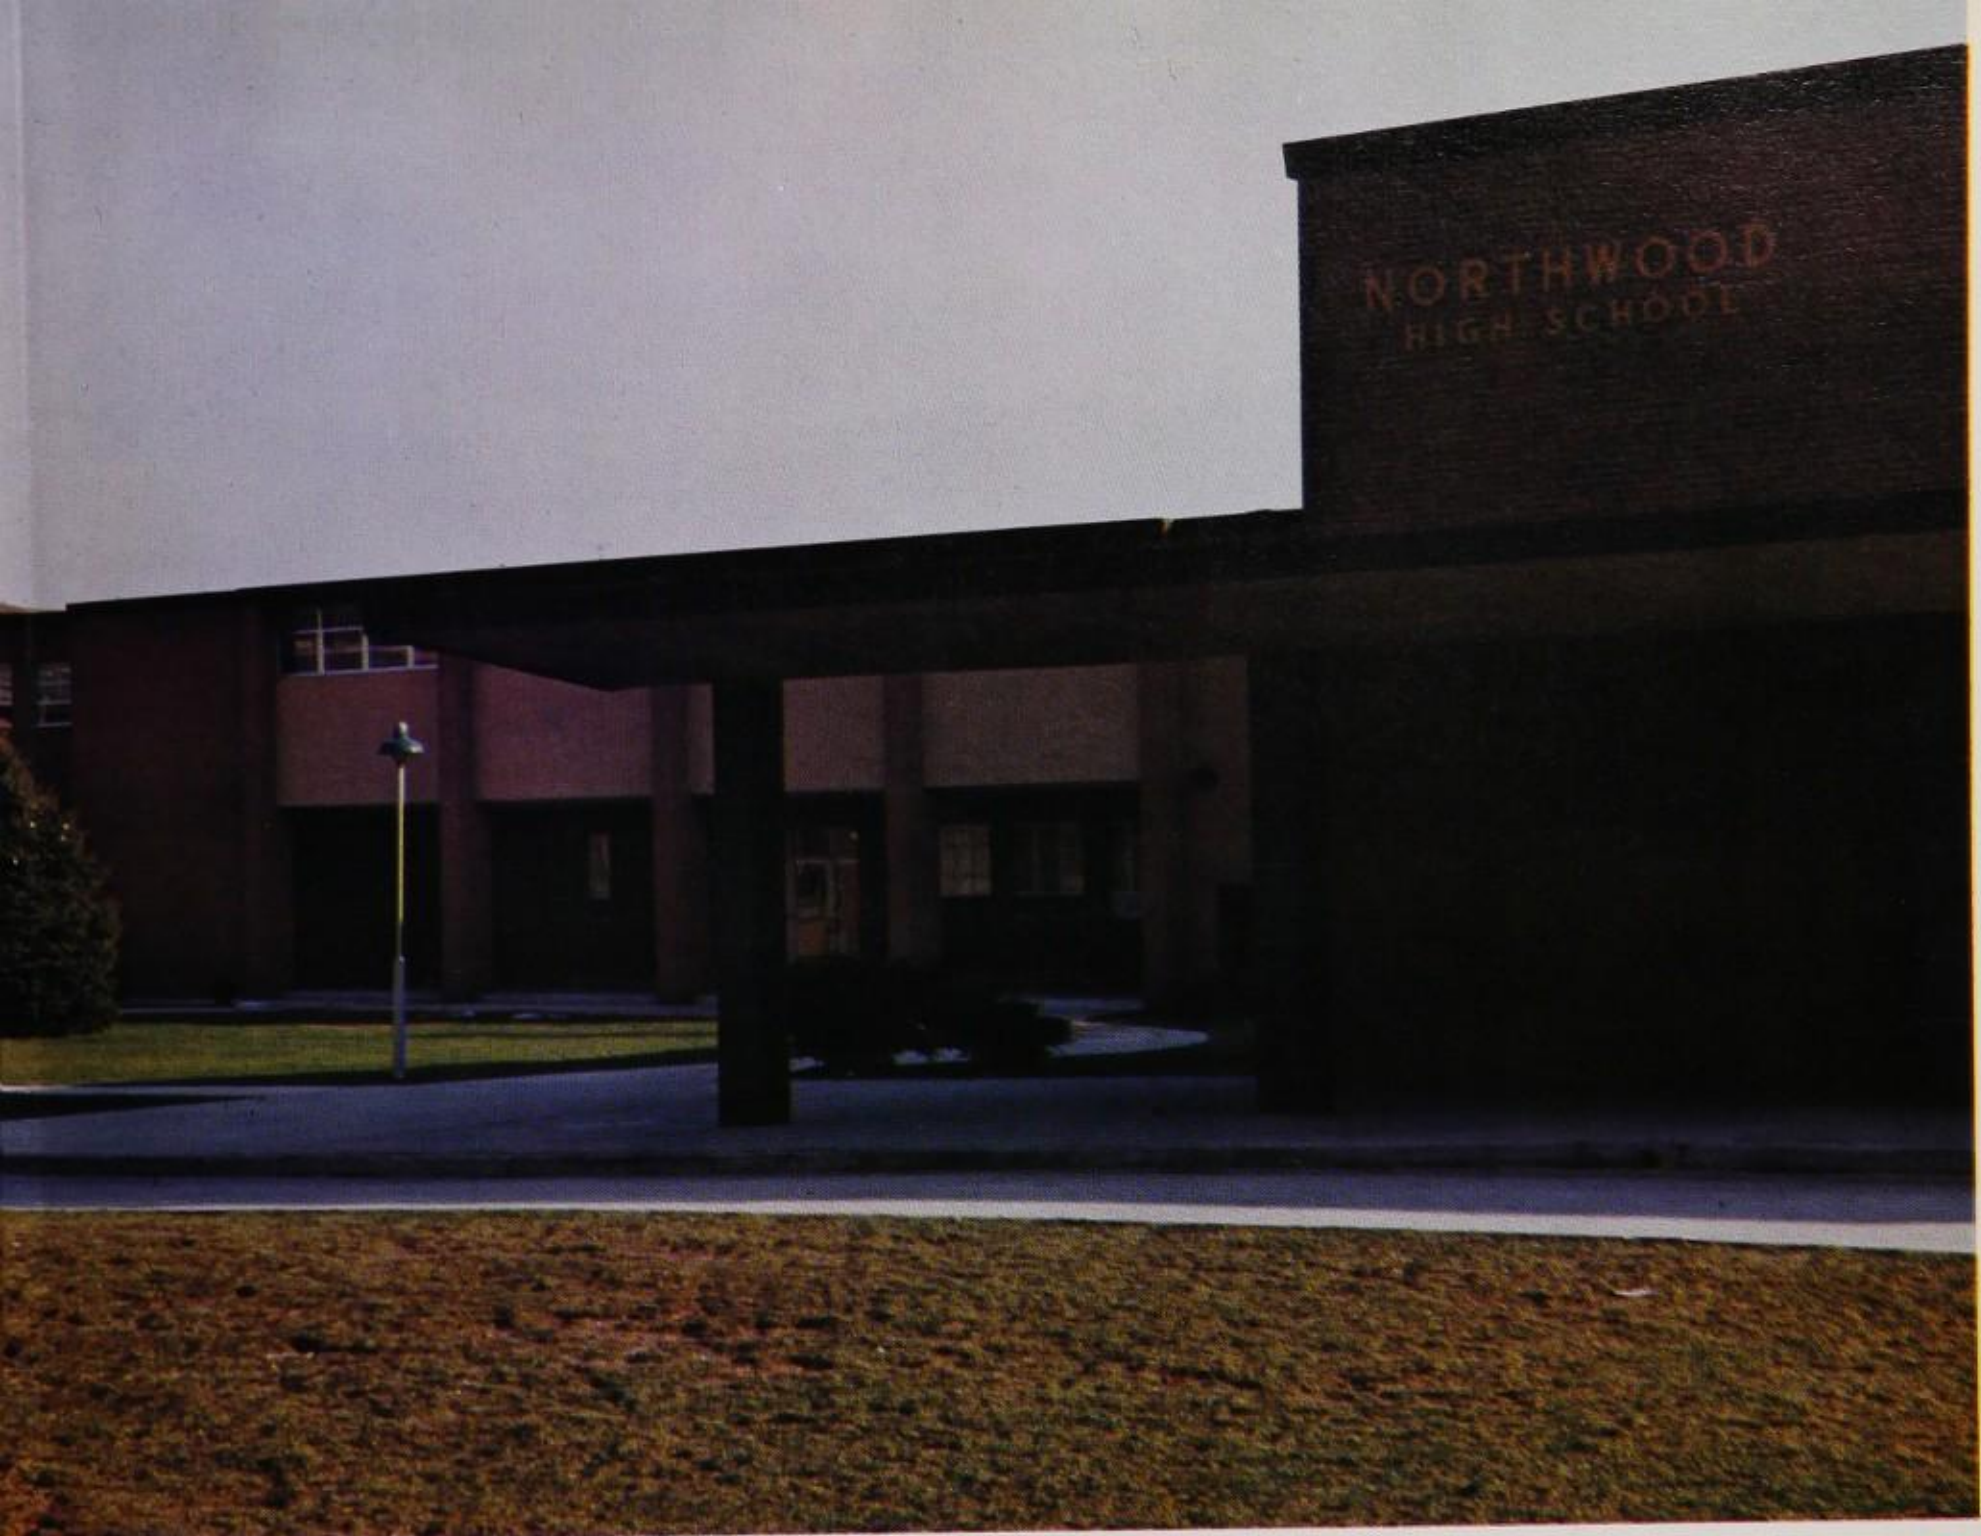

From the top of a nearby highrise apartment building, Northwood is viewed bordered by University Boulevard and suburban housing developments.

After the final bell at 2:30, students stream into the corridor from classes upstairs in B wing on their way to their lockers or to after-school club meetings.

Diversity Typifies Northwood Experience

The Northwood Experience is the faculty and the students, the emotions and feelings, and the small happenings and large events that fuse in each student's memory leaving a single impression of his three years at Northwood. Students of varied backgrounds are united in a common purpose, a search for knowledge. Though there is no typical Northwoodite, each student has a place in the spirit and tradition of the school.

One of eight in the court, this bench provides a seat between classes.

During one of the six-minute breaks between periods, students use a stairway to get to their next class.

School Spirit Unites Northwood Students

Students remember the Northwood spirit—the fight song ringing out at a basketball game, the football players jumping through the hoop at Homecoming, and the cheerleader's pom-poms waving in mid-air . . . or the quiet moments—walking down a deserted hallway, struggling with an English exam, and watching the lowering of the flag. They remember the expressed and the unexpressed emotions and feelings of their Northwood experience.

Drum major Dale Marcks leads the band through the N formation during half-time.

At a basketball game in the gym, Northwood students excitedly cheer on the Indians who have just made a basket which puts Northwood ahead.

Pat Rounds, Marty Svrcek, Jeff Bloom, Sue Slocum, and Bob Berbgartt decorate Jeff's car with red and black for the annual car decorating contest.

Ron McDowell breaks through the hoop to start a football game.

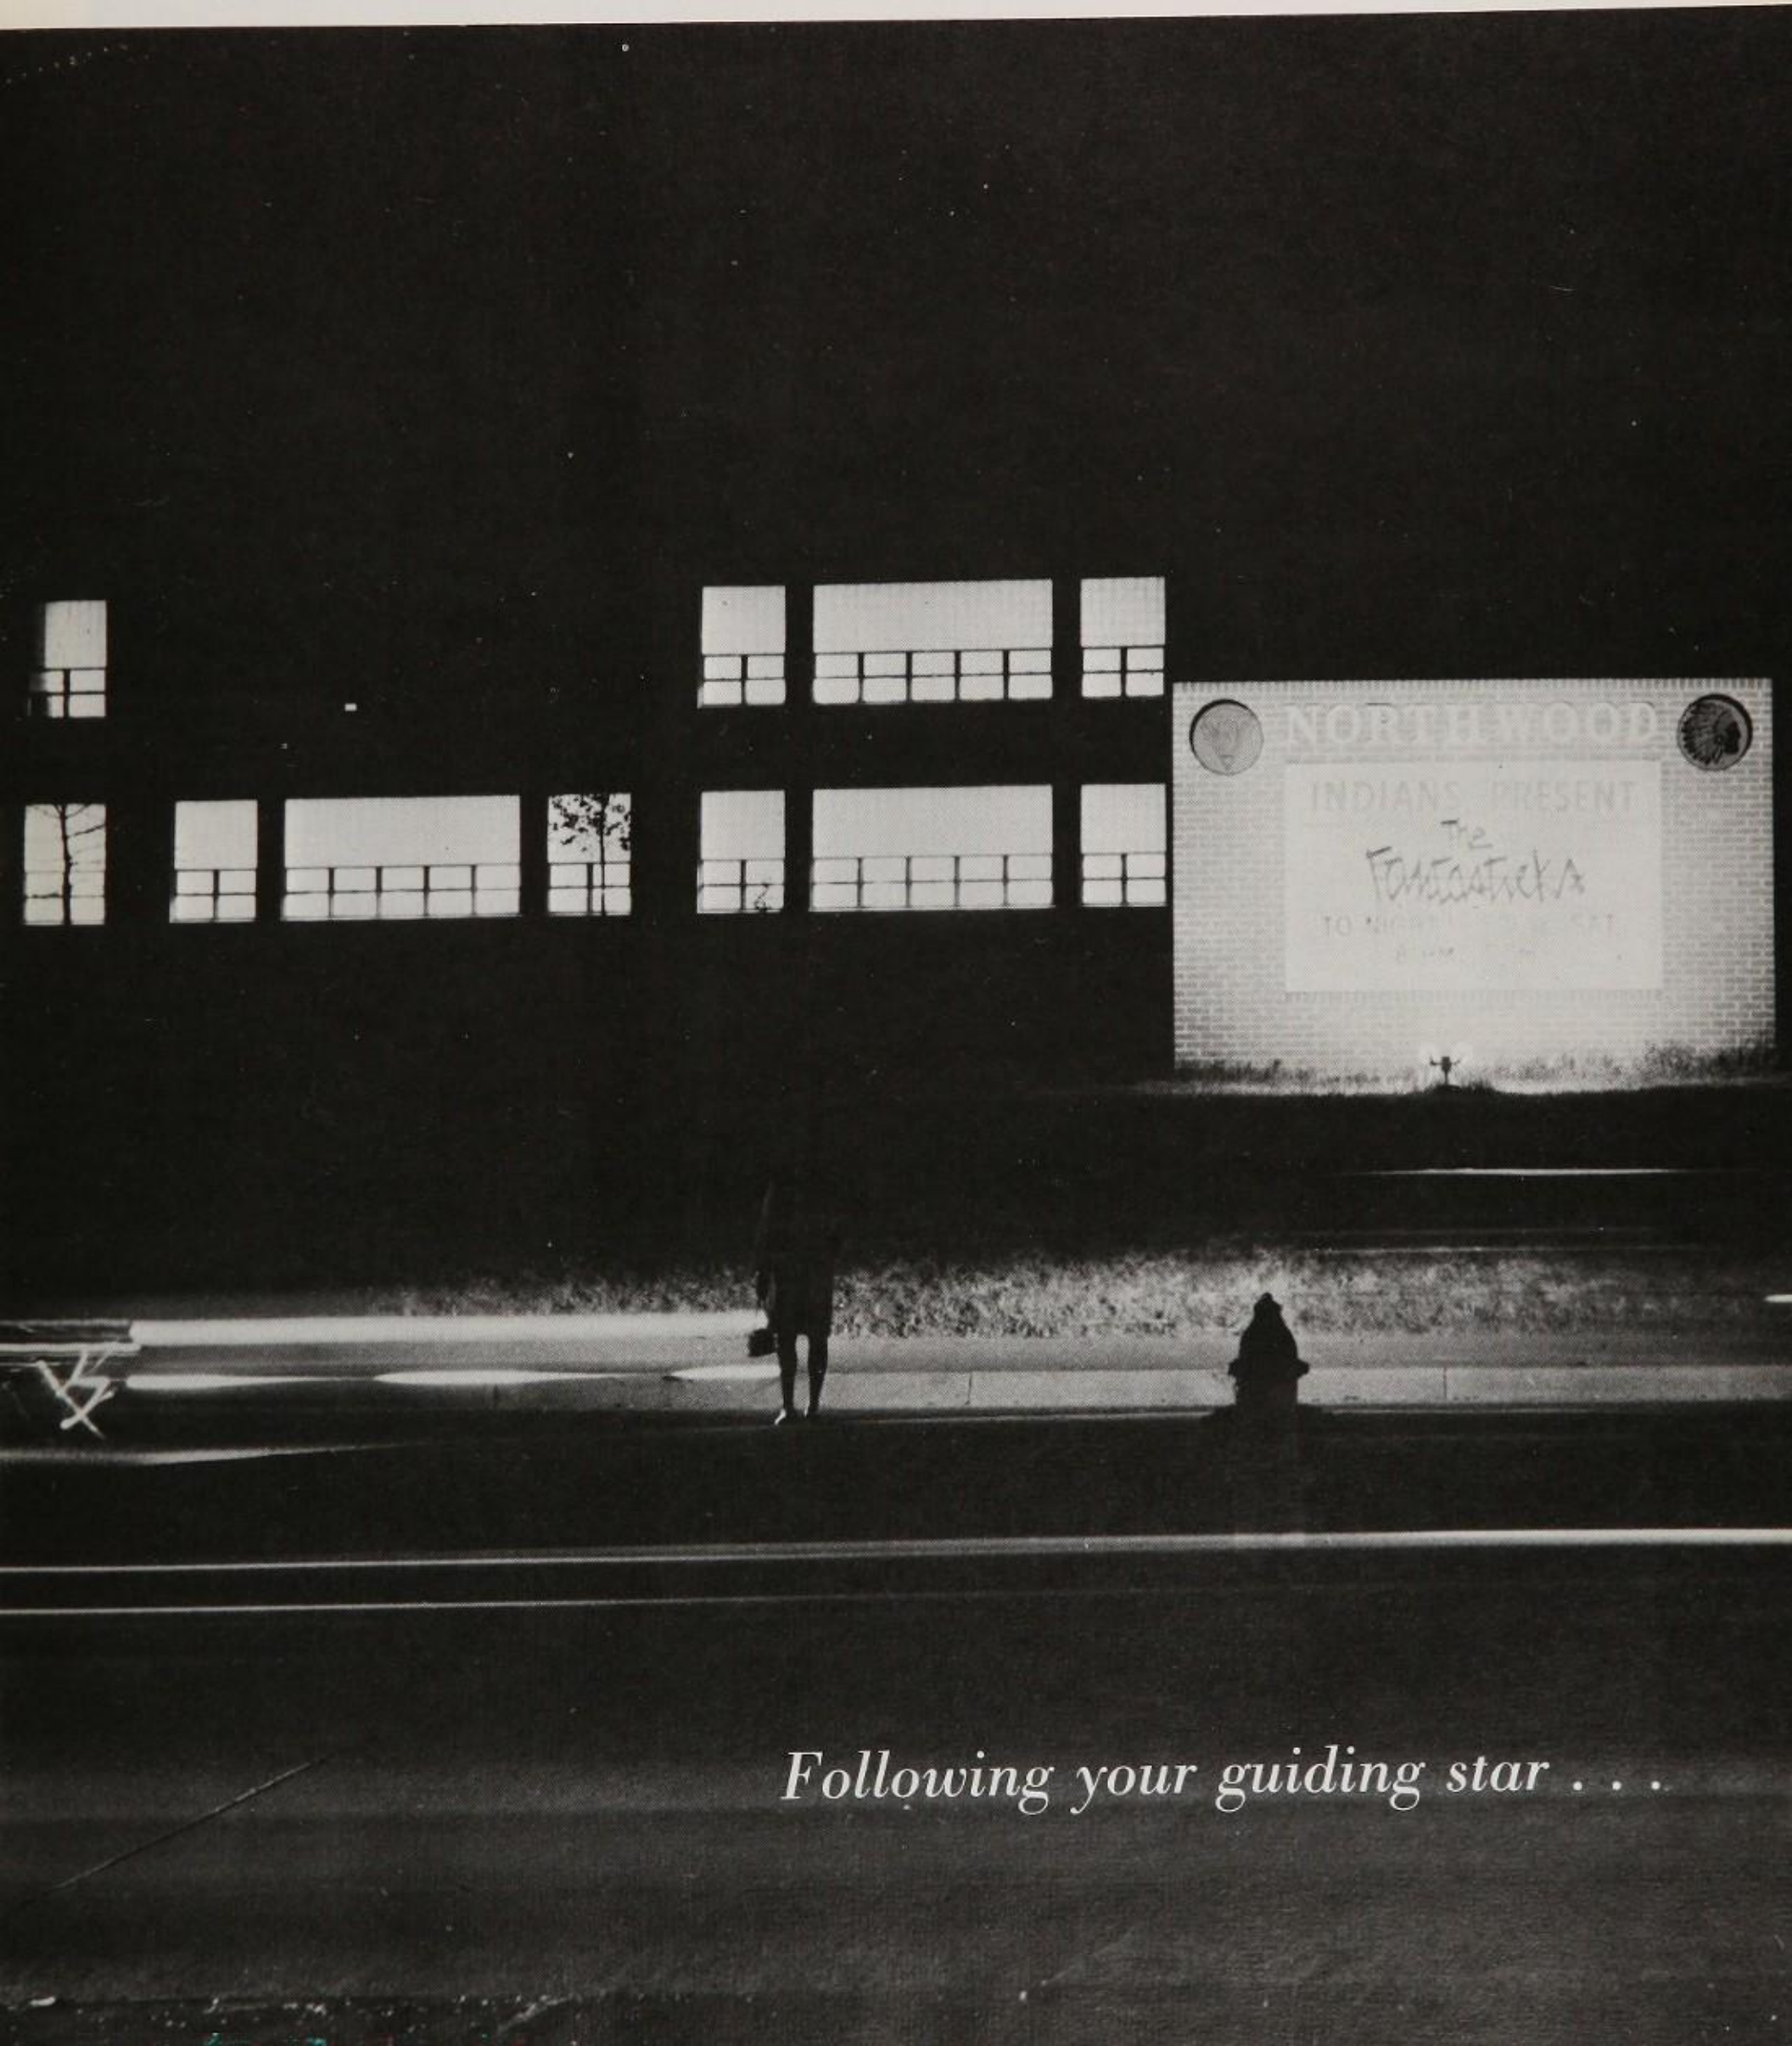

The Northwood experience lasts longer than the three years that a student attends Northwood. The experience continues as students further their education or begin a job. As they use the knowledge and training they gained at Northwood, students remember the people and the events of their high school education that aided in shaping their futures. As alumni, they continually magnify their memories of Northwood by attending dances, assemblies, and athletic events at the school. The Northwood Experience remains a part of the students for the rest of their lives.

Students Retain Memories of Northwood

On the opening night of The Fantasticks, cars coming to the performance enter into Northwood from University Boulevard.

Following your guiding star . . .

In the counselor's office, Dan McCabe inspects a map indicating which colleges Northwood graduates from the Class of 1966 are presently attending.

School Maintains Outstanding Reputation

The Northwood sign, built in 1962 as a Wheel Club project, announces upcoming events to passers-by on University Boulevard.

Thy name both near and far.

AFS returnee Gail Abramowitz, AFS student Elmira Sarkari and "sister" Ellen Mathes look at maps in the National Geographic Building.

Each student that attends Northwood contributes to the reputation of the school, because the school is represented by both its students and its alumni. Each year in athletic, scholastic, and journalistic competitions, the success or failure of the students involved determines Northwood's place as a high school. The reputation Northwood's students have earned in the past contributes to the Northwood experience for those attending the school now. Northwood has been well represented by its athletic champions, National Merit Finalists, yearbook and newspaper representatives; thus, its reputation, both in the Washington area and throughout the country, is outstanding.

Northwood Prepares Students for Future

Connecting the various wings of the school building, the center court displays the totem pole, the symbol of Northwood's spirit and tradition.

Northwood . . . Alma Mater

Concert Choir members Ricki Ellison, Gayle Sutton, Howard Doak, and Jay Stearns sing Northwood's Alma Mater.

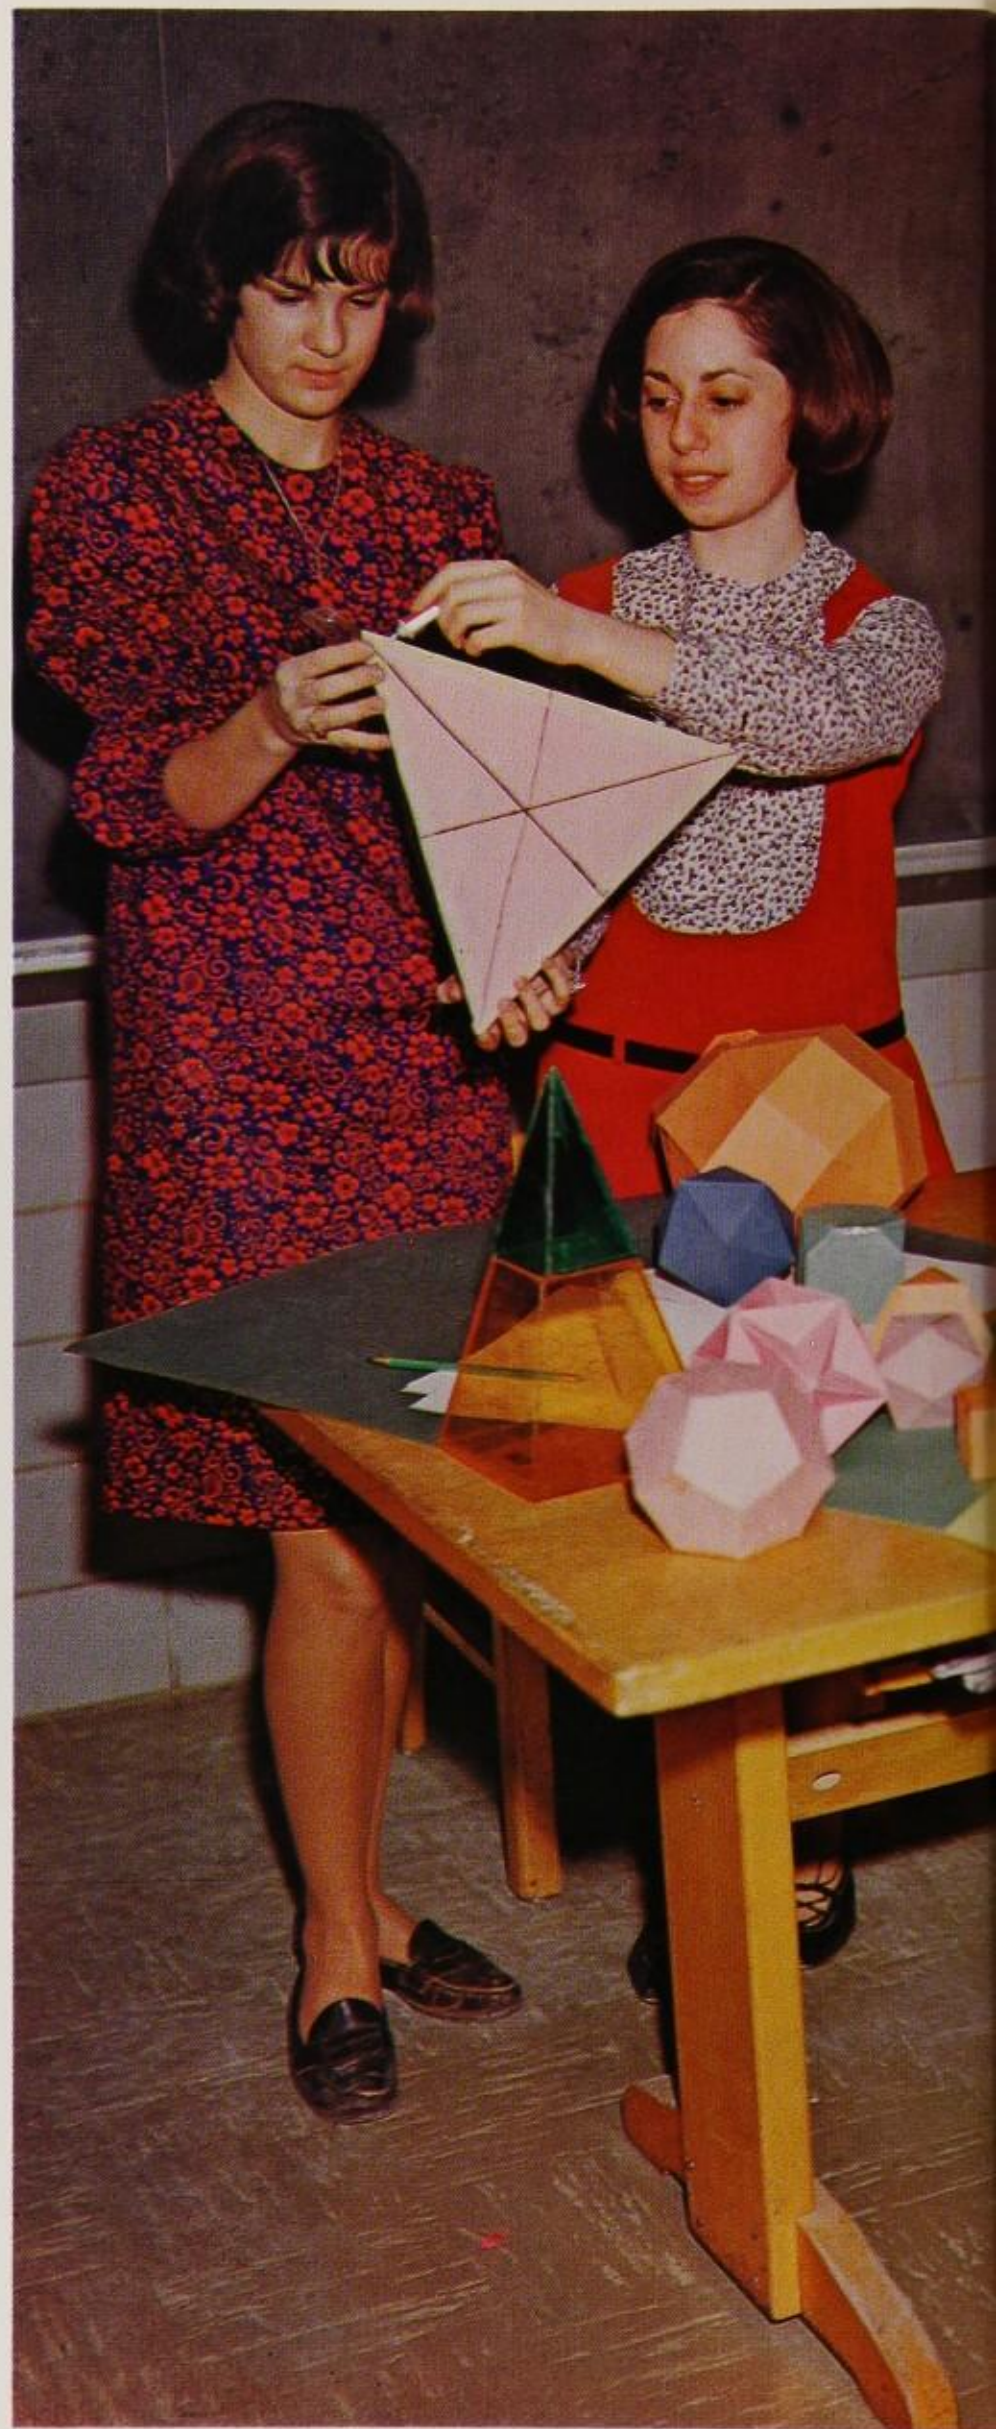

The events, the emotions, the people, and the learning—all of these—comprise the Northwood Experience. Moments of joy and of sadness, of accomplishment and of failure, which occur at school, at home, or even abroad, combine to form a personal impression of the Northwood Experience. In each aspect of the experience, each individual student finds a special significance. During the three years in high school, every student grows within the Northwood Experience and thus prepares to meet his unique future.

Academics

Administrators and faculty and staff members contribute to the efficient operation of Northwood. The administration is the leading force of Northwood, developing and supervising its policies. Teachers motivate and instruct the students, while the staff members render vital services to Northwood. All of these people, each in his own individual field, are a necessary part of the Northwood experience.

In the main office, Mr. Packard and his secretary Mrs. Winner discuss a memo for the teachers.

During a private meeting, Mr. Robert Smith, Mr. Maurice Ward, and Mrs. Elizabeth Pierrel discuss the problems of coordinating classroom activities.

Administrators Back Students' Activities

Coordinating the many different activities and programs of Northwood, Mr. Packard fulfills his duties in the interests of the school. One of the new policies this year was the two-hour period, introduced to the curriculum by Mr. Packard in anticipation of next year's daily schedule.

Assisting Mr. Packard, vice-principals Mrs. Pierrel, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Ward enforce school policies, coordinate class activities, and maintain the building and grounds.

Before becoming the dean of the tenth grade, Mr. Ward obtained his B.A. and M.S. degrees at the University of Maryland. Mrs. Pierrel, dean of the eleventh grade, was graduated from Middlebury College in Vermont, receiving her A.B. and M.S. degrees. After receiving his B.A. and M.Ed. degrees at the University of Maryland, Mr. Smith became the dean of the twelfth grade.

Before giving his approval, Mr. Packard discusses the rules and regulations for the Senior Trip to Montreal with class president Ronnie Bittner.

Secretaries Mrs. Isabel Winner and Mrs. Virginia Romack prepare a memo to the faculty while Sue Hardwick and Lois Williams watch the switchboard.

Office Staffs Supervise Student Endeavors

Counselors benefited Northwood students by providing valuable guidance in academic and personal problems. In the spring and summer, counselors coordinated the schedules for next year's sophomores. They also helped tenth and eleventh grade students decide on future courses at Northwood through student conferences and discussions in English class.

Miss Sallie Scott, the college counselor, provided aid to students seeking advice concerning their college plans. She wrote recommendations and helped students to obtain financial aid in the form of scholarships and loans. She counseled students concerning the American College Test, the Scholastic Aptitude Test, and the Achievement Tests.

Background Aides Maintain Efficiency

Vital background aides deserved often unexpressed gratitude. The duties of Mrs. Ceranton, Mrs. O'Neil, and the library aides included assisting students in finding materials, cataloguing books, and ordering new selections for the library.

Hungry students appreciated the meals carefully planned and served by Mrs. Disney and her staff. Mrs. Carnvale, the school nurse, assured the students of excellent health care. The custodial staff, managed by Mr. Claggett, devoted many extra hours to the maintenance of the school.

Literature Emphasized by Study of Classics

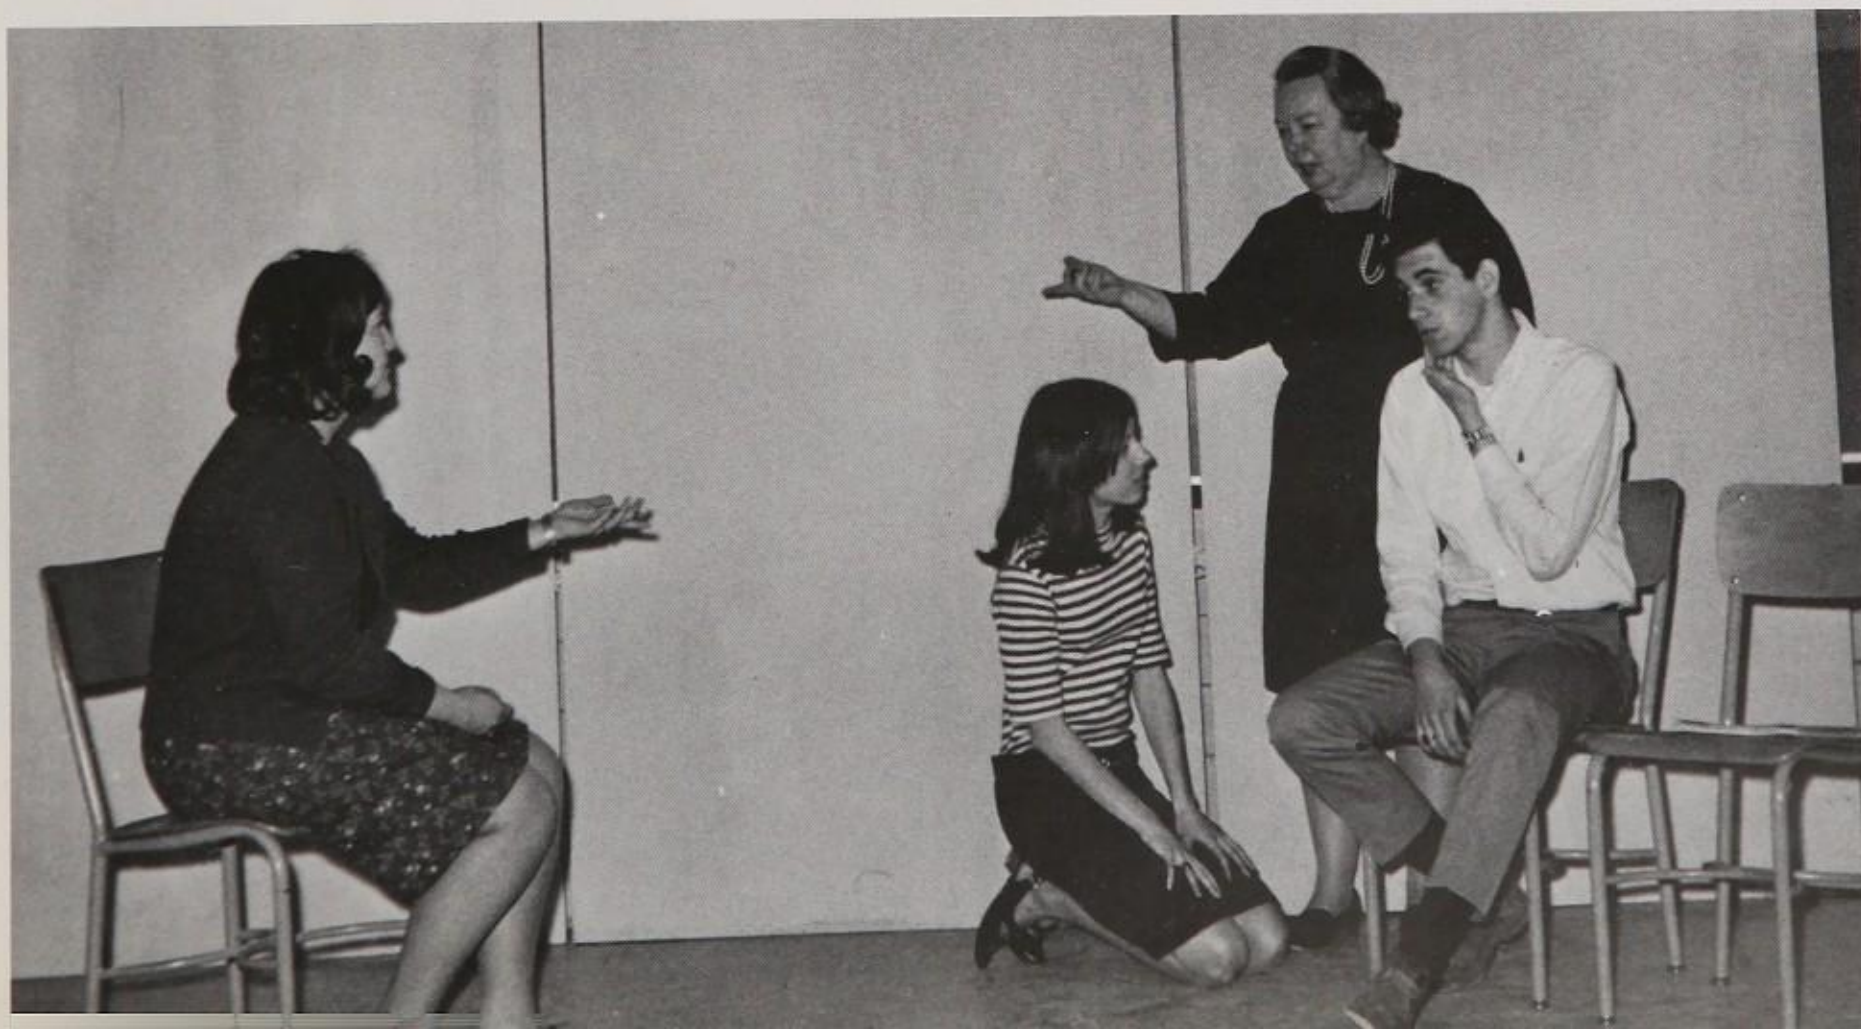

Northwood's English Department offered enriching courses emphasizing clearness of communication. Sophomores studied Shakespeare's Julius Caesar and Silas Marner by George Eliot.

Junior English classes enhanced their understanding and appreciation of literature through discussions of American authors and poets. Mrs. Kosofsky's classes enjoyed seeing A Touch of the Poet by Eugene O'Neill.

Seniors limited their studies to British literature, stressing the plays of Shakespeare. To supplement class discussions, they viewed Macbeth at Northwood. In addition, Mrs. Bond's able learner class saw Hamlet at the National Theater.

Miss Jane Smith directs students Lois Risk, Marilyn Sparks, and Howard Sacks, who are enacting a scene as a daily exercise for their dramatics class.

Courses Emphasize Language and Math

Conversation and literature were stressed in the foreign language department. Beginning classes in French, German, Spanish, and Latin developed speaking skills and grammar techniques. Advanced French students read literature from the seventeenth century to the present including Moliere's L'Avare and Sate-re's Huis Clos. The German program was augmented by a study of German culture, while Spanish students increased their comprehension by reading Spanish newspapers. Advanced Latin students studied the works of Cicero and Virgil.

Mathematics courses prepared students for jobs or future studies. Geometry students used programmed texts in which they worked at their own pace. Algebra classes used the binomial theorem, and solved simultaneous equations. Students of trigonometry furthered their knowledge by graphing polar equations and studying trigonometric functions. Differentiating functions and finding limits of polynomials occupied introductory analysis students.

To reinforce his student's knowledge of German grammar, Mr. George Padaroff adjusts the tape recorder to play a drill in object pronouns.

Students Interpret Past and Present

Social studies courses explained the present world situation in the light of history. Students of world history gained an understanding of today's political concepts by studying the history and concepts of ancient civilizations. Tracing the development of ideas since the Renaissance, modern European history emphasized the heritage of the western world. Students studying problems of the twentieth century analyzed the difficulties of modern society.

Juniors in United States history classes followed the growth of America from the establishment of the Colonies to the Kennedy Administration. Psychology students gained an understanding of human nature; sociology students studied man and his position in society.

Mr. McGill and his students of POT discuss problems of labor relations and how the American government has attempted to solve them.

Teachers Encourage Creative Abilities

Science students combined original research and textbook study. Biology and advanced biology classes supplemented basic texts with detailed examination of the internal and external structures of various animals.

Experimentation highlighted physical science classes. For physics students a series of experiments with mirror images proved intriguing. During laboratory periods, chemistry students conducted experiments in such fields as hydration and solubility while earth science classes investigated methods of weather prediction.

Chorus, band, and orchestra classes developed proper techniques as they practiced for performances in school assemblies and evening concerts. The entire Music Department participated in the Spring Concert in April.

Reorganized this year, the Art Department offered courses stressing different aspects of art. The program included students in advertising and fashion drawing.

Using a model of the interior of a heart, science teacher Mrs. Thelma Baker explains to her sophomore biology class how the heart pumps blood.

Electives Complete Students' Programs

Gym classes combined health education with sports in an overall program of physical fitness. Soccer, hockey, and volleyball units stressed team skills, while gymnastics and track and field units emphasized individual performance.

Designed to aid the beginning driver, a twelve-week program of driver education was given through the gym classes. Instructors Mr. John Maloni and Mrs. Paul Bolyard taught students good driving techniques and safety procedures.

Students enrolled in typing classes learned typing skills for personal and business use.

Home arts courses including sewing, cooking, and child care units instructed girls in basic homemaking techniques.

Dr. Virginia Moses instructs senior Barbara Hasko in the proper method of sewing seams in the dress she is making for her home arts project.

Courses Emphasize Occupational Skills

Business and commercial courses form a vital part of Northwood's curriculum. Designed to prepare commercial students for opportunities in the business world, these courses include business math, shorthand, typing, and office practice.

Work Oriented Curriculum and Distributive Occupation programs sought to provide both an academic education and job experience for business students. Upon graduation from Northwood, many commercial students will be ready to accept responsible and rewarding positions.

Instructor John Maloni explains driving procedures to junior Robert Sher.

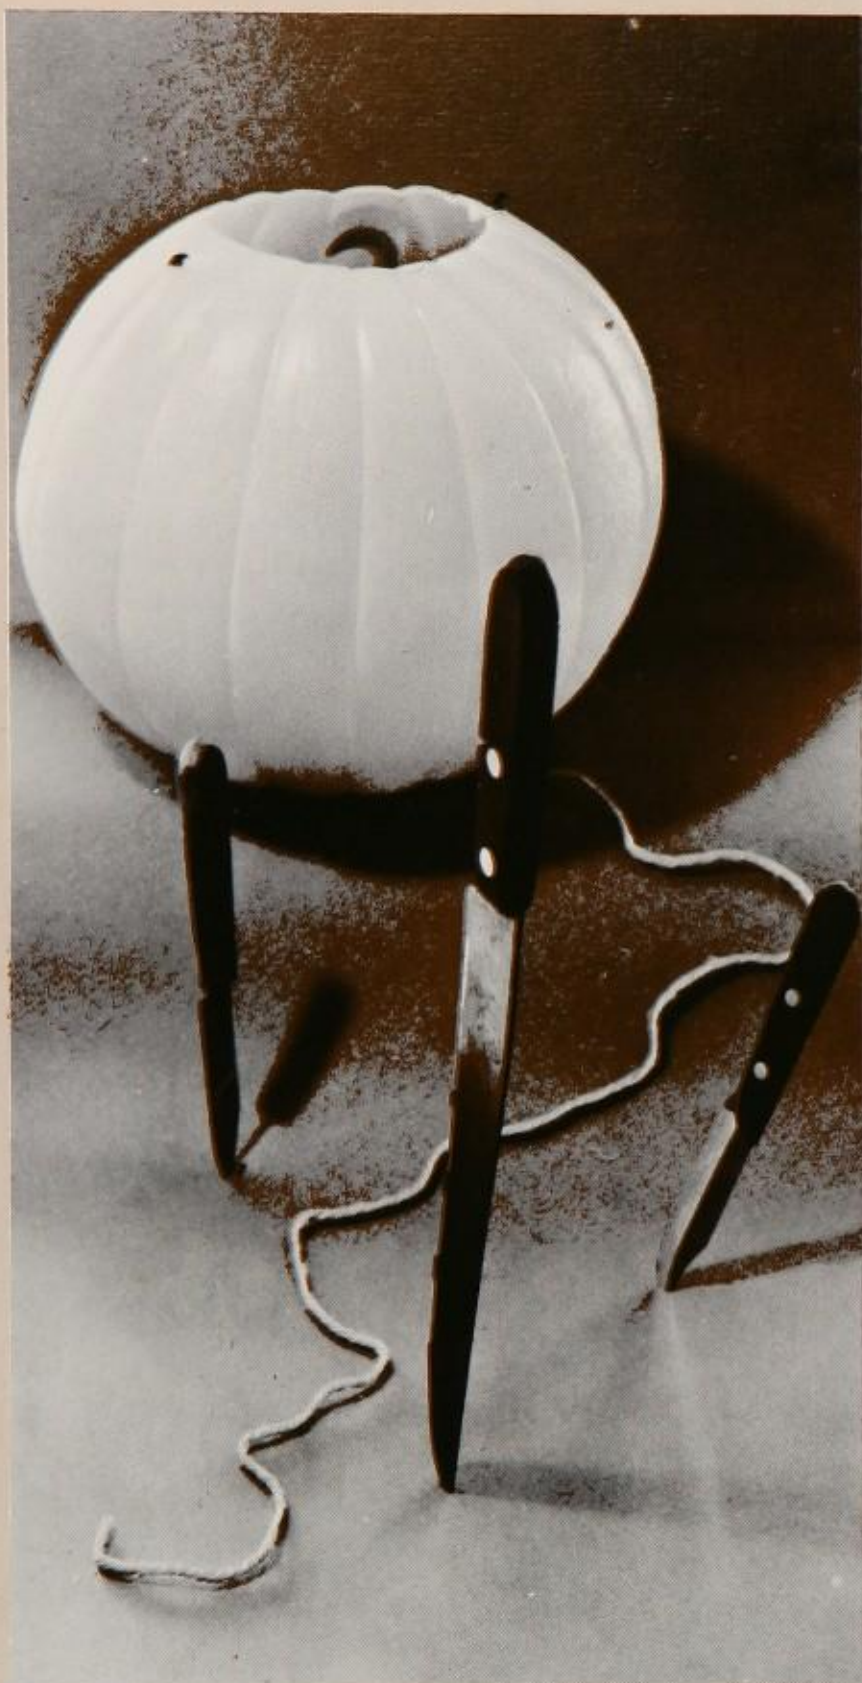

During her afternoon typing class, Miss Mary Nemesh explains the form for the modified block style letter to senior student Daryl Brown.

Activities

Activities are the traditional events which are impatiently awaited by the student body of Northwood. From Homecoming, and the proms to the All-School Production and the class plays to the pumpkin-carving and door-decorating contests, activities provide entertainment for all Northwood students. Appealing to the entire student body, activities hold a special place in the Northwood experience.

Seniors Cheryl Hardy, Ron Sencer, and Mark Meyerson take three of the entries in the pumpkin-carving contest to Children's Hospital.

Coronation Climaxes Homecoming Week

Northwood sparked enthusiasm for its final game of the football season with the annual Homecoming week activities. Sponsored by the Student Government, the school spirit festivities included Red and Black, Dog Patch, and Northwood Sweatshirt Day.

Climaxing Homecoming week-end, Carol Wasson was selected Homecoming queen on Saturday. Carol reigned over the "Indian Uprising" Dance which culminated Homecoming week.

Willa Johnson, aided by Harry Bagdasian, wraps the goal posts in preparation for the Homecoming game against Blair.

Queen Carol Wasson and her court Peg Cole, June Alligood, Sandy Bergeron, Janet White, Ann Raines, and Dale Riccuci receive flowers.

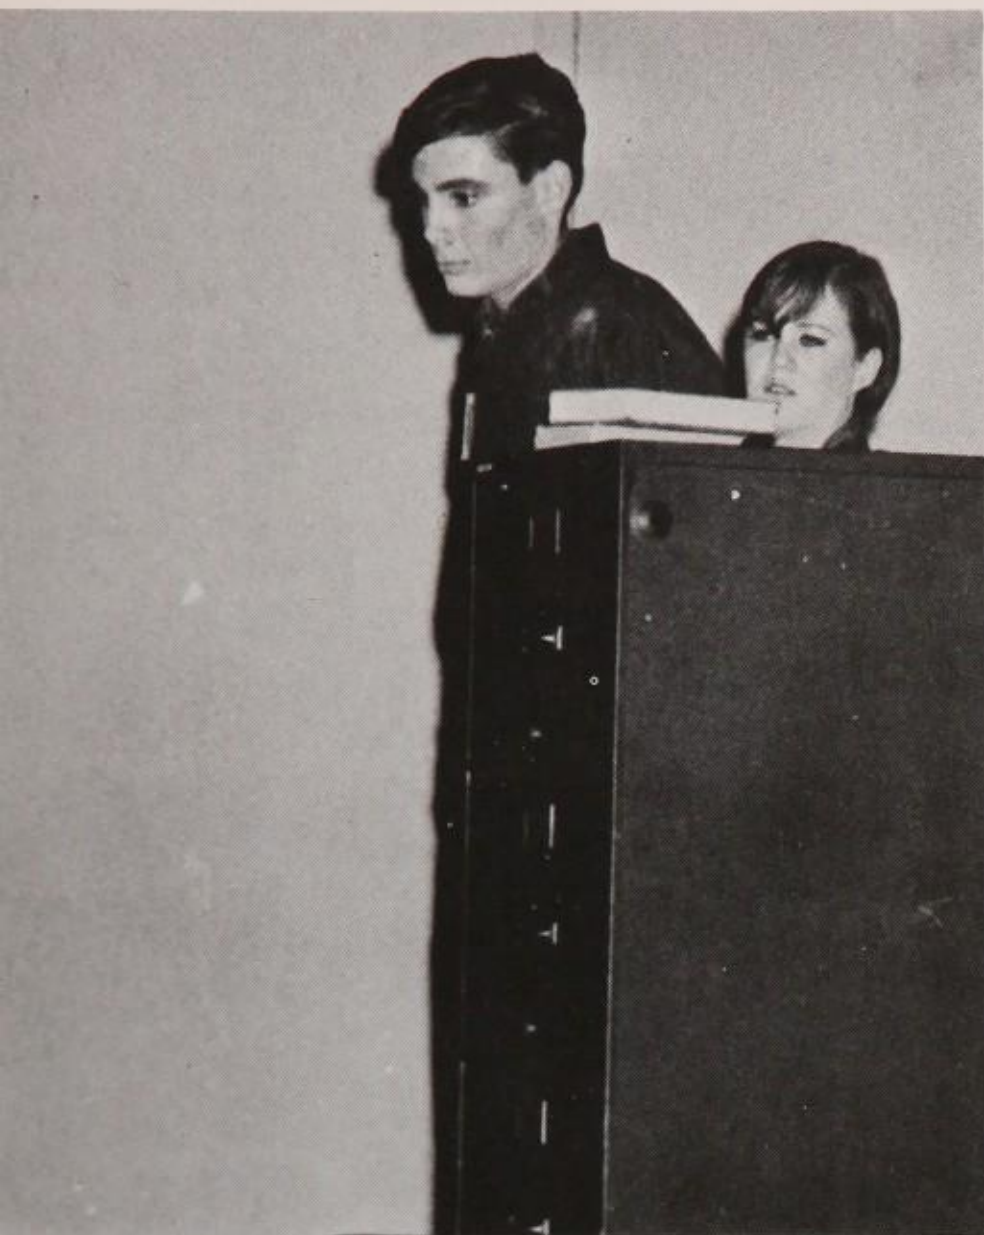

During a rehearsal of the "Fantasticks," Northwood's All-School Production, lovers Maureen Curtain and Jay Stearns, who play "Louisa" and "Matt" respectively, silently clasp hands.

Comrades Bob Chambre, Merle Walker, and Danny Riesenbergh obediently do their morning calisthenics during a scene from 1984, the Senior Class Play.

During 1984 Beth Goldkind flourishes a toy gun while her "mother" Merle Walker questions Danny Riesenbergs, who shields his "girlfriend" Elyse Kaplan from view.

Students Demonstrate Talent In Dramatics

Under the direction of Mrs. Christine Parsley, the Senior Class presented an adaptation of George Orwell's 1984 in November. Seniors handled makeup and setting and assisted with the direction and the production of the play.

Members of the junior class selected Eugene O'Neill's "Ah, Wilderness!" for production in May. Sponsoring the play, Mrs. Rita Kosofsky and Miss Amy Upthegrove gave the students valuable aid.

The choice of a musical for the All-School Production set a precedent in the Northwood tradition. Maureen Curtain and Jay Stearns played the leads in "The Fantasticks" directed by Mr. David Gammons.

As Ruth Dolleck and James Becker observe him critically, Michael Lewis practices his lines in "Ah, Wilderness!" the Junior Class Play.

The Winter Wonderland Court, Judy Simmons, Joanne Hesson, Pam Wilbert, Cynthia White, JoAnne Credle and Elmira Sarkari, surround Queen Molly Kimble.

Beneath a canopy of festive crepe paper, "Lawrence and the Arabians" play at the annual Vice-Versa Dance sponsored by the Student Government Association.

Dancing to the music of the "Leaves of Grass," junior Kathy Feldman and her date Jimmy Jones enjoy the evening at Northwood's Winter Wonderland.

Northwood's Dances Prove Entertaining

Under a white canopy, students celebrated an old-fashioned Christmas at the annual Winter Wonderland dance. Home-made decorations including strings of popcorn and tiny stockings graced the Christmas tree in the center of the gym. Snowmen guarded the refreshments in the cafeteria.

All eyes were on senior Molly Kimble as she chose the lucky charm and was crowned Winter Wonderland Queen of 1966.

At the Vice-Versa dance, "Lawrence and the Arabians" suggested a Mid-Eastern atmosphere which was carried through by the gym's desert setting.

To the delight of Ray Smathers and her escort Dennis Friend, "Lawrence and the Arabians" play a slow song at the Vice-Versa Dance held in February.

At a fund-raising project for the benefit of Care, Mr. Seymour Kamins auctions off one of the items donated by local merchants.

At the Welcome Dance in September, Marlene Parker sings to the accompaniment of Craig Young and drummer Terry Vipondof "J.D. and the Jesters."

During the Safety Assembly sponsored by Chrysler Motor Corporation, the Spurr-lows perform a song-and-dance routine to encourage safe driving.

Numerous Activities Provide Recreation

Providing a welcome break in the classroom routine, activities during school hours proved beneficial and enjoyable. Northwood's annual toy drive gave hundreds of retarded children a merrier Christmas. At an assembly, Thurlow Spurr and the Spurrloes, a song-and-dance group, urged driving safety.

After-school activities augmented Northwood's daily program. The Welcome Dance in September introduced incoming sophomores to each other, and the school. Later in the year, each school club sponsored a carnival game at the Activity Fair. With prizes donated by local merchants, Northwood also held an auction to raise money for Care.

In the Red and Black Booth at the Activity Fair, Ken Schulman reminds prospective customers that he has many prizes left for them to win.

Student Government Executive Committee members Betsy Wilansky and Tom Whitlow make sure that the toys collected in the Toy Drive are in working order.

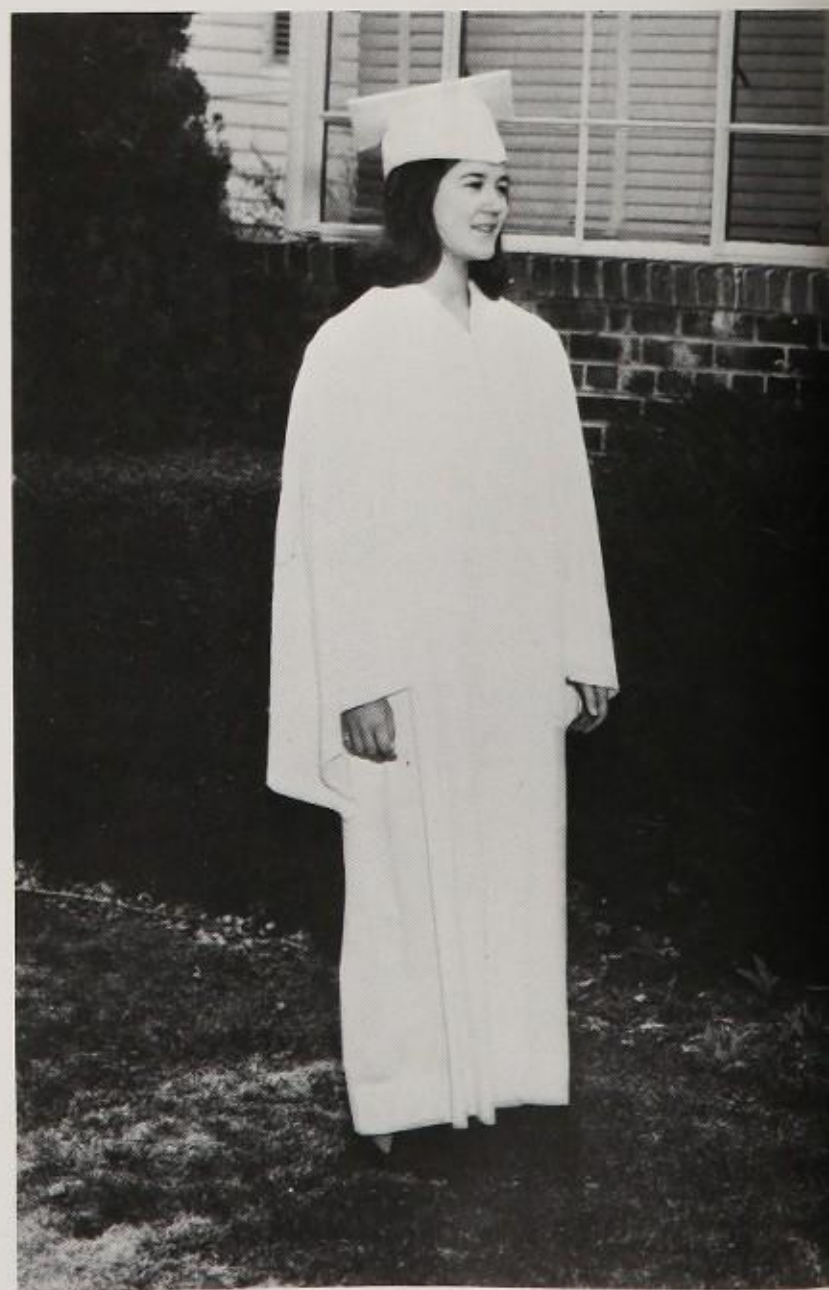

During a geography class, Turn-About teachers Barry Cassel and Andrea Kierbs ask sophomore Diane Schlosser a question about the topography of France.

Anxiously awaiting the Senior Class trip to Expo 67 in Montreal, Canada, Harry Bagdasian studies a travel folder about Montreal and the highlights of the Fair.

Graduating Seniors Share In Activities

Both traditional and novel experiences highlighted the activities of the Class of 1967. An innovation, the class trip to Expo 67 in Canada, attracted over three-hundred seniors during a weekend in May.

Earlier in the year, Turn-About Day gave seniors an opportunity to conduct classes in the place of their teachers.

Senior Week held from May 31 to June 2 included Beanie Day, the Senior Skit, the Senior Banquet, and the Senior Prom held at the Statler Hilton Hotel in Washington, D.C. Graduation at Cole Field House proved a memorable and an exciting conclusion to the senior's final year at Northwood.

Mrs. Ira Kaplan takes pictures of her daughter before Elyse's graduation in Cole Field House at the University of Maryland.

At the Senior Prom held at the Statler Hilton Hotel, Ira Agins and Gail Bricker pause to admire the hotel lobby before entering the Presidential Ballroom.

Organizations

Organizations draw Northwood students into close hard-working groups, because they give students with similar interests a chance to meet in small groups. By allowing for further study and work in a student's special field of interest—writing, music, community service, or career practice—organizations complement and extend the daily Northwood experience beyond regular classroom learning.

Decorator committee members Terry Mahon, Kathy Radja, Ray Lee, Sue Yauch, and Tim McAfee work on a bridge to be used at the Homecoming Dance.

Representative June Alligood proposes that the Student Government Association sponsor a door-decorating contest before Christmas vacation.

Student Government Provides Leadership

Throughout the year, the Executive Committee, composed of elected officers and appointed committee chairmen, planned, organized, and scheduled all-school activities.

Executive Committee initiated many new projects, including a Christmas tree sale, a school activity calendar, and a student directory.

The Representative Assembly, an elected body of the Student Government, was made up of one representative from each homeroom section. Representatives provided a link between the Executive Committee and the student body.

Executive Committee members Linda Robinson, Joan Goldstein, Kathy Thomas, President Vic Habib, Mark Meyerson, Carol Teter, and Bob Chambre discuss Student Government Association affairs.

At a Representative Assembly picnic, Ken Labowitz is tagged by Mitch Kolkin while Barry Weinberg, Ron Sencer, and Tom Whitlow stand ready.

Before a meeting of the Student Government Executive Committee during sixth period, Betsy Wilansky, Tom Whitlow, and Bob Costrell discuss an upcoming SGA event.

After C lunch period, Debbie Strauss purchases a ticket to the upcoming Vice-Versa Dance from Social Committee Chairman Elyse Kaplan.

Welfare Committee chairman Tom Whitlow searches the medicine cabinet of his home for empty bottles to contribute to Northwood's Pill Bottle Drive.

Val Russack buys a "Whip WJ" school spirit button from Joyce Hilsberg as Debbie Strauss and Carol Weissenberg inspect Northwood car decals.

During a Welfare Committee trip to Hope Valley, Sally Watson saws down a tree which will be sold by the Student Government Association at its Christmas Tree Sale in December.

Committees Sponsor Northwood Events

Extending its services to the community, the Welfare Committee collected toys for retarded children and pill bottles for Children's Hospital. The Service Corps, a sub-committee of the Welfare Committee, tutored underprivileged children at Highland View Elementary School and sponsored clean-up projects at Hope Valley.

Members of the Social and Hospitality Committee planned the Activity Fair and the Student Government Association dances including the Welcome Dance and the annual Vice-Versa Dance.

Diane Shor, a participant in the Welfare Committee Tutoring Project, helps a first-grader at Highland View Elementary School learn to read.

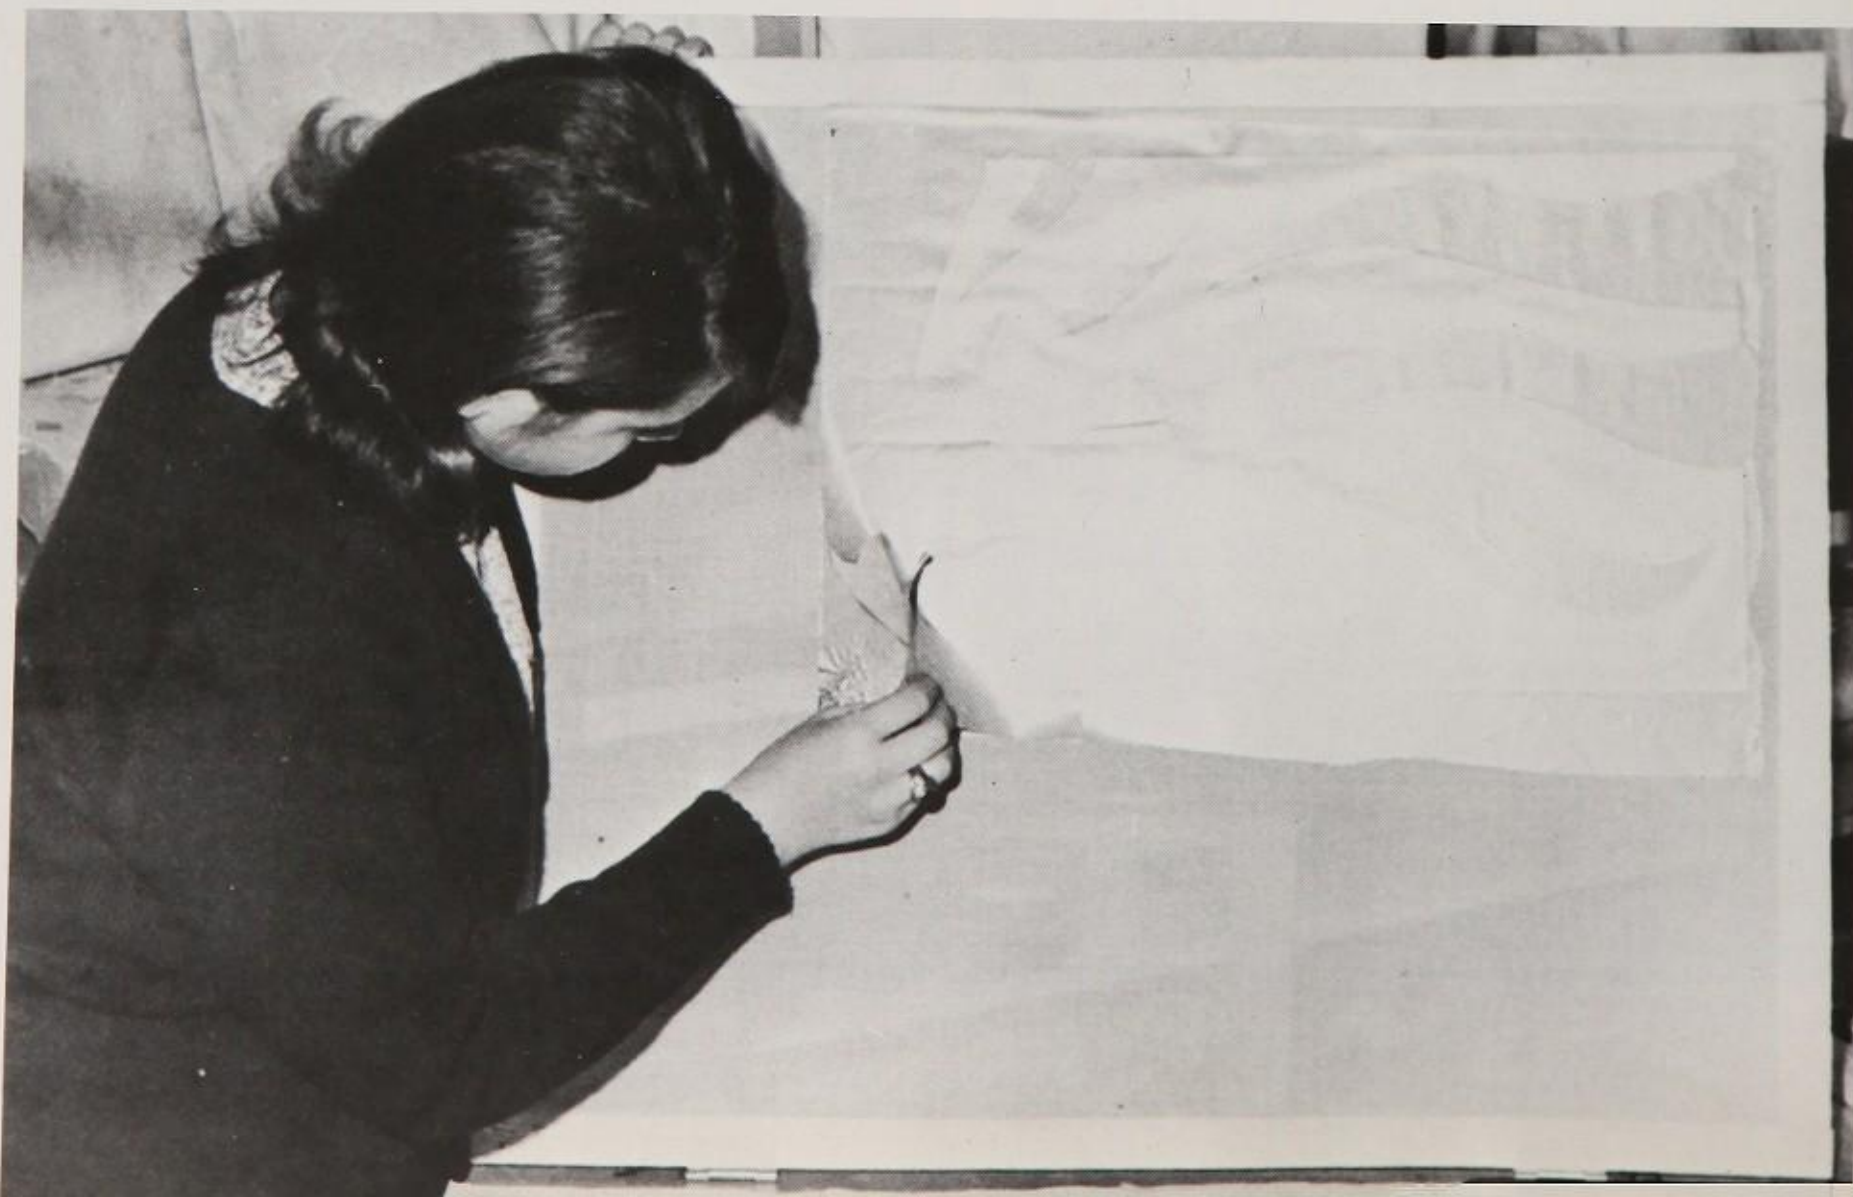

At an after-school meeting of the Student Government Association Citizenship Committee, Mary Beth Leidman and Chairman Mark Meyerson plan the format of the Student Handbook for next year.

After school, Publicity Committee Chairman Joan Goldstein begins to silk screen posters which publicize the Vice-Versa Dance held in February.

Publicity Committee Chairmen Carol Teter and Joan Goldstein decorate the showcase in B wing with balloons to announce the upcoming Activity Fair.

Committees Link High School With Area

Under junior Joan Goldstein's direction, the Publicity Committee advertised Northwood's activities in the school and the community by designing bulletin boards, posters, and showcases. The Committee also handled the daily Public Address announcements.

To promote good citizenship at Northwood, the Citizenship Committee sponsored a Peace Corps speaker at the Thanksgiving Assembly and a project to send packages to American soldiers in Vietnam.

During sixth period, Harry Batdasian approaches Publicity Committee member Kenny Labowitz with a last minute Public Address announcement.

Key and Keyette Clubs Serve School

Keyettes served both the school and the community during the year. Their Gifts for Giving project allowed mental patients to select presents for their families. Club members also held an after-school bake sale and were ushers and guides at various school activities.

With Keyettes, the Key Club planned a work day with underprivileged children at Camp Ivakota. In March, members attended a District Convention in Roanoke, Virginia. They also held a pizza dinner before the Peary-Northwood basketball game.

Participating in a Key Club service project, Danny Riesenber and Robert Lentz ring doorbells to collect donations to the March of Dimes.

At a candle lighting ceremony, Vice President Marsha Perman inducts new members Linda Cope, Beth Comarow, and Rozzie Beroza into Keyettes.

KEYETTES: First row—D. Brown, Secretary; M. Perman, Vice President; B. Cope, President; E. Block. Second row—B. Goldkind, J. Goldstein, M. Eshom, J. Miller, Treasurer. Third row—S. Kary, L. During a Girls' Service Club slumber party at Linda Robinson's house, club members laughingly make an attempt to construct a human pyramid.

Serving Northwood and the community, the Wheel Club adopted an American Indian orphan. The Club also raised and lowered the flag each day and announced Northwood activities via the sign on the school's front lawn. Culminating the year, Club members presented Northwood with a plaque imprinted with the school emblem.

Innovations in the activities of the Girls' Service Club included collection door-to-door for the March of Dimes and caroling on Christmas Eve. At a slumber party in the fall, the Club inducted new members.

Girls' Service Club members Ellen Gaffney, Mary Muth, Jo Anne Credle, Bonny Ginder, and Tammy James go caroling on Christmas Eve in the Northwood area.

Ken Bloom, a member of the Stage Crew, diligently paints a flat for Northwood's All-School Production, "The Fantasticks," presented in April.

Before the Senior Class Play, Stage Crew members Bob Ulino and Ellen Samols put Big Brother, a character in 1984 by George Orwell, on the stage.

Clubs Spark Interest In Sports and Plays

Members of the Girls' Sports Association encouraged participation in extra-curricular sports events. The Club sponsored intramural programs and honor teams in field hockey, volleyball, and basketball during the first semester. Spring intramurals included tennis, archery, and softball. Club members also competed in various sports at the Montgomery County Sports Day. In addition to promoting athletic events, the Club sold Northwood sweatshirts and potato chips at football games.

Playing a vital part in Northwood productions during the year, Stage Crew members constructed sets and provided sound and lighting equipment for the Class Plays and the All-School Production.

During half-time at a football game, Susan Furnary and Nancy Faulkner sell fritos and potato chips to raise money for the Girls' Sports Association.

Girls' Sports Association members Barbara Cope, Adrienne Leiderman, and Pam Cope watch as Susan Slocum checks Claire Porter's sweatshirt size.

Field Service Club Opens New Vistas

Northwood's American Field Service Club promoted international understanding and goodwill. Through the AFS exchange program, the Club brought Elmira Sarkari from Iran to Northwood. Living at the home of her American "sister", senior Ellen Mathes, Elmira shared all the family's experiences.

Club activities included a dinner in a Japanese restaurant and visits to the National Geographic building and the Mosque. To raise money, the Club installed a wishing well during AFS Week in February.

Bonny Ginden hangs posters announcing that applications are available for the Americans Abroad Program sponsored by the American Field Service.

During exam week American Field Service officers Anne Stevens, Gail Abramowitz, and David Gantz construct a wishing well for the student body to use.

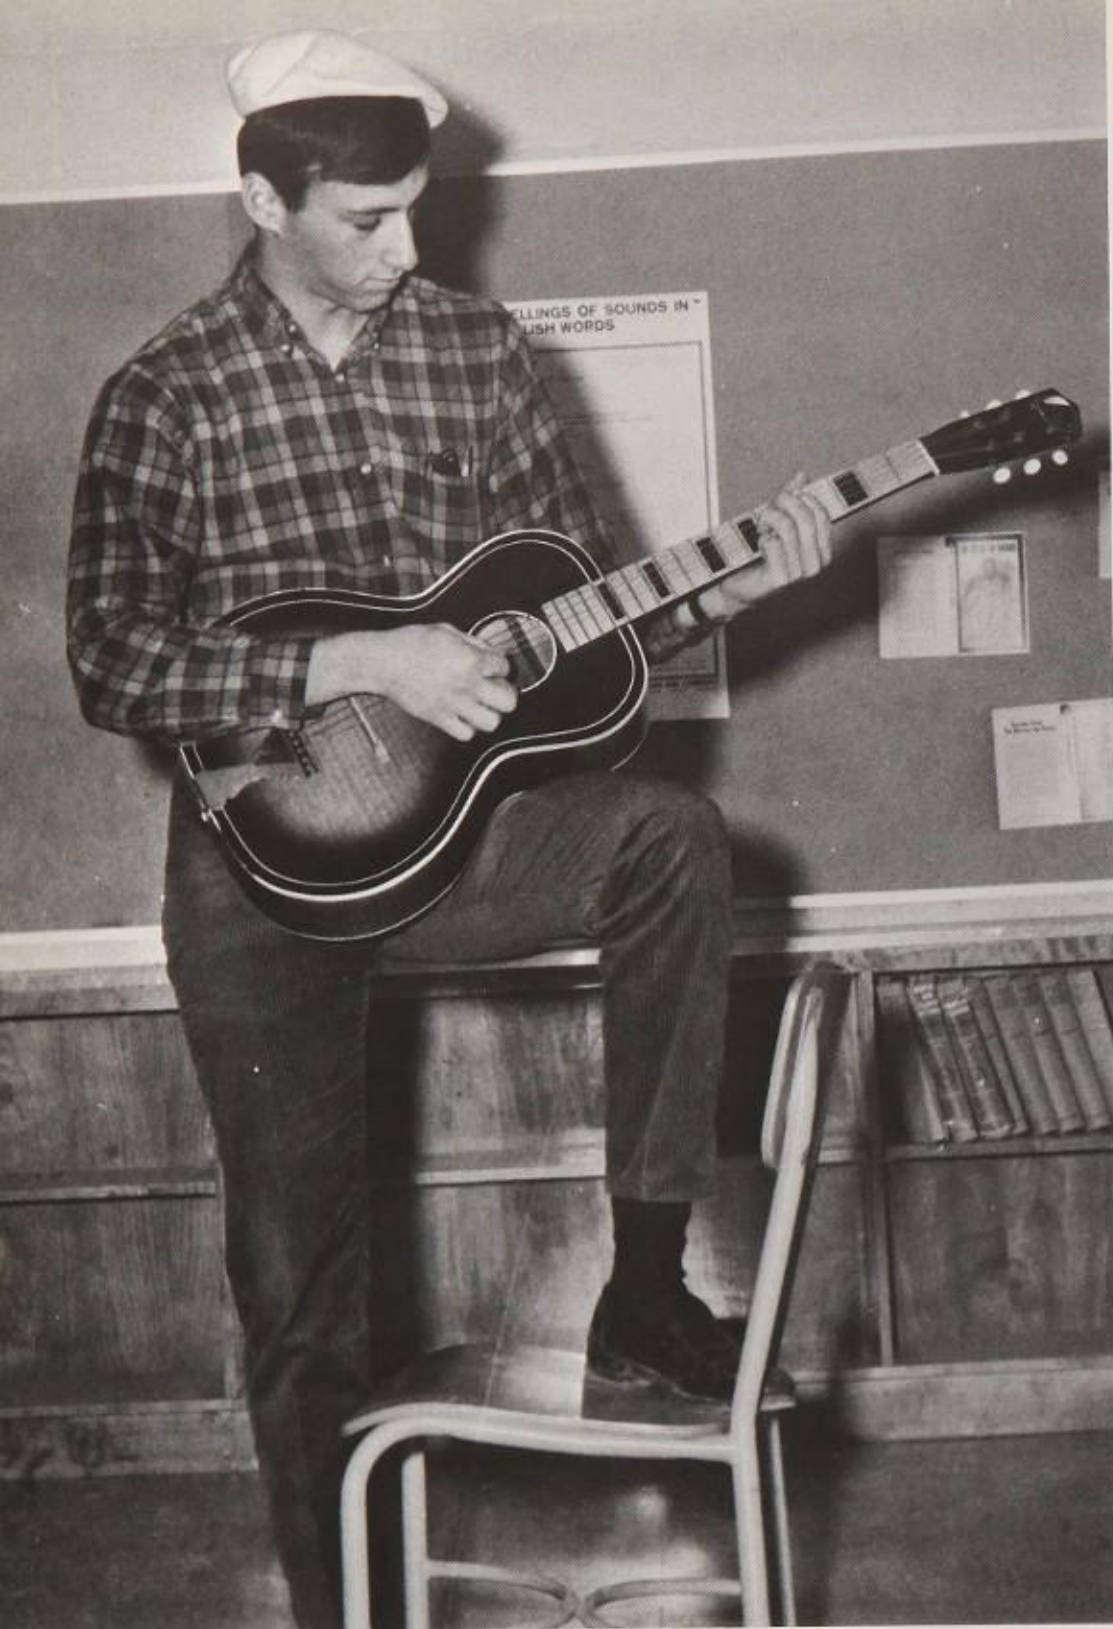

After finishing her homework in the evening, Foreign Exchange Student Elmira Sarkari prepares and serves tea to her American sister Ellen Mathes.

In order to have a fire ready when her American father arrives home from work, Elmira Sarkari puts a log into the fireplace in the Mathes' living room.

Returning home to refill her empty carton, Ellen Mathes is met at the door by Elmira who gives her the needed varieties of Girl Scout Cookies.

Nancy Fioramonti and Marla Postal catch up on French news and exercise their comprehension skills by reading "Paris Match."

Donning a beret, French Club President Ira Craig plays "Chevalier de la Table Ronde" on his guitar during a lively meeting of his club.

At a German Club meeting, Arthur Galloway, Joan Rochkind, and Alice Koch prepare the table for a traditionally German festivity, a coffee hour.

During a Spanish Club field trip to El Bodegon, Gloria Salazer practices drinking from a traditional Spanish flask while Leopoldo Basanez watches her.

Clubs Offer Practice in Foreign Languages

During the year, the French Club promoted an interest in French culture. Trips to French restaurants, markets, and movies broadened members' understanding of life in France.

German Club members learned about the activities, traditions, and attitudes of German-speaking people and about the countries in which they live.

Members of the Spanish Club studies Spanish and Latin American Cultures. Highlights of the Club's activities this year included a dinner at a Spanish restaurant, a visit to a Mexican Fiesta, and a fund-raising project for a school in Latin America.

Before a weekly meeting of the German Club, David Hammerstein, President Sheldon Sherman, and Wayne Shenk read copies of the German newspaper.

Future Teachers of America members Marilyn Fiefer, Beth Goldkind, and Nancy McKeen sell cookies to Phyllis Simons to raise money for golf team jackets.

Organizations Investigate Past and Future

At the FTA Christmas party Mr. Charles Maclay, dressed as Santa Claus, finds out what the children of faculty members want for Christmas.

Introducing classical civilization to its members, the Latin Club sponsored a Latin-English magazine, "Pegasus", Latin scrabble matches, and the annual Latin Banquet.

To become acquainted with the teacher's role in education, the Future Teachers of America acted as teachers at elementary schools. The Club also planned a Christmas party and a teacher's tea.

Russell Maurer plans the next word as Barbara Hasko picks another letter.

In preparation for their annual banquet, Latin Club members Nancy Nash and Diane Morningstar help senior Wayne Mowatt put on his toga in the proper fashion.

President Gail Kinsey directs Judi Katz and Ellyn Green in preparing a sauce while Kathy Moyer and Linda Murphy begin to clean the kitchen.

Club Members Plan For Future Careers

As members of the Future Homemakers of America, students improved their skills in homemaking for personal and family living. A field trip to Potomac Electric and Power Company highlighted the Club's activities.

To learn about medical careers, the future doctors and nurses of the Medical Careers Club listened to lectures given by prominent doctors. They also went on field trips and saw movies which enhanced their understanding of the medical profession.

Future Business Leaders visited business schools and listened to informative speakers on subjects such as grooming and job preparation.

At a meeting of the Future Homemakers of America, Marcia Ellington and Jill Stearns check to make certain that Mary Noyes' hem is straight.

At a meeting of the Future Business Leaders of America, Jane Wilson and Mary Kriaski practice their typing and Joan May transcribes a letter while President Jean Schaffer checks the accuracy of their work.

Mrs. Carnvale explains the use of the sphygmomanometer and stethoscope to patient Earl Stromberg, Estelle Kaye, Jean Schaffer, Wendy Garson, and Bruce Silver.

Before the Vice-Versa Dance, Decorators' Club members Susan Paxton, Jack Horwitz, Cathy Loflin, Terry Mahon, and Lynn Massie prepare the King's throne.

In preparation for Winter Wonderland, Decorators Club members Marty Svrcek and Jack Horwitz arrange a graceful canopy of white streamers to reflect the colors of the revolving lights.

Creative Students

Explore and Decorate

By illustrating the practical application of scientific principles, the Science Club supplemented Northwood science courses. Activities planned by the club ranged from a kite-flying contest to a flexagon demonstration.

Decorators Club members decorated the gym for school dances including Homecoming, Winter Wonderland, and the Vice-Versa. They also sponsored a door-decorating contest in December.

Elizabeth McClure and Carl Goldhagen perform an experiment with the Van de Graaff Generator.

During an after-school meeting of the Science Club, seniors Wayne Mowatt and Mark Meyerson present a flexagon demonstration to the club members.

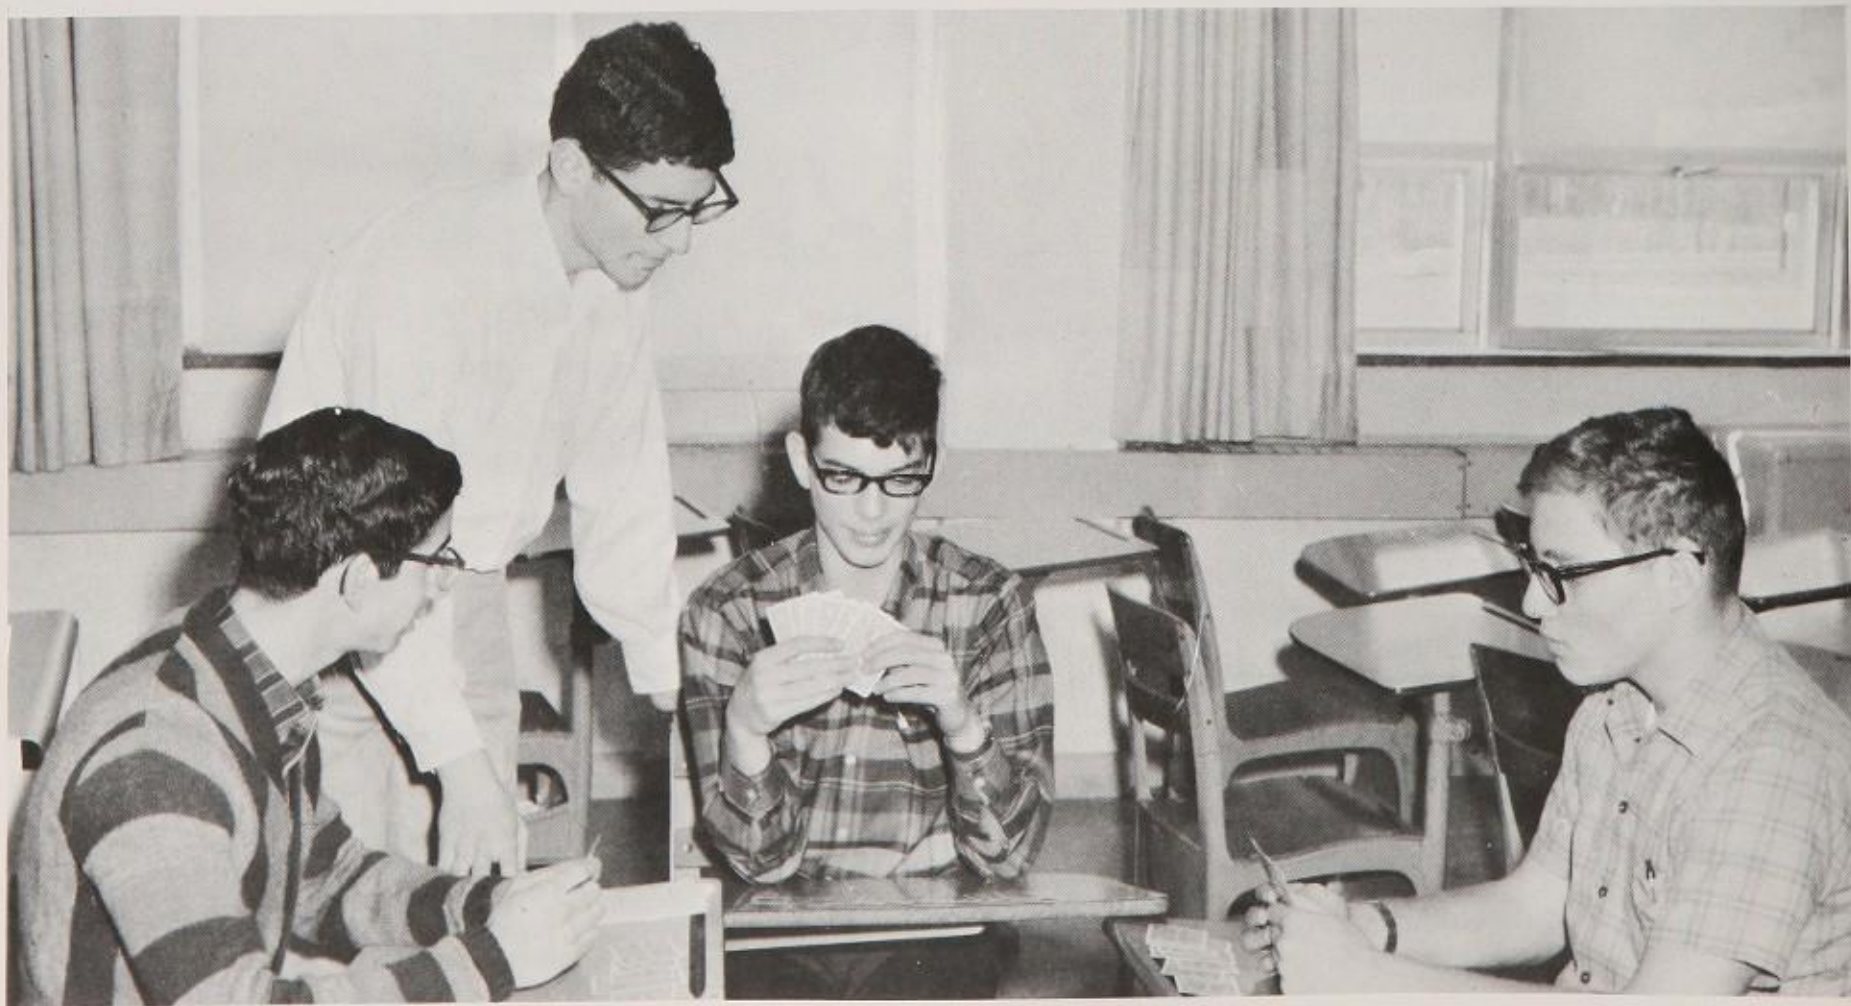

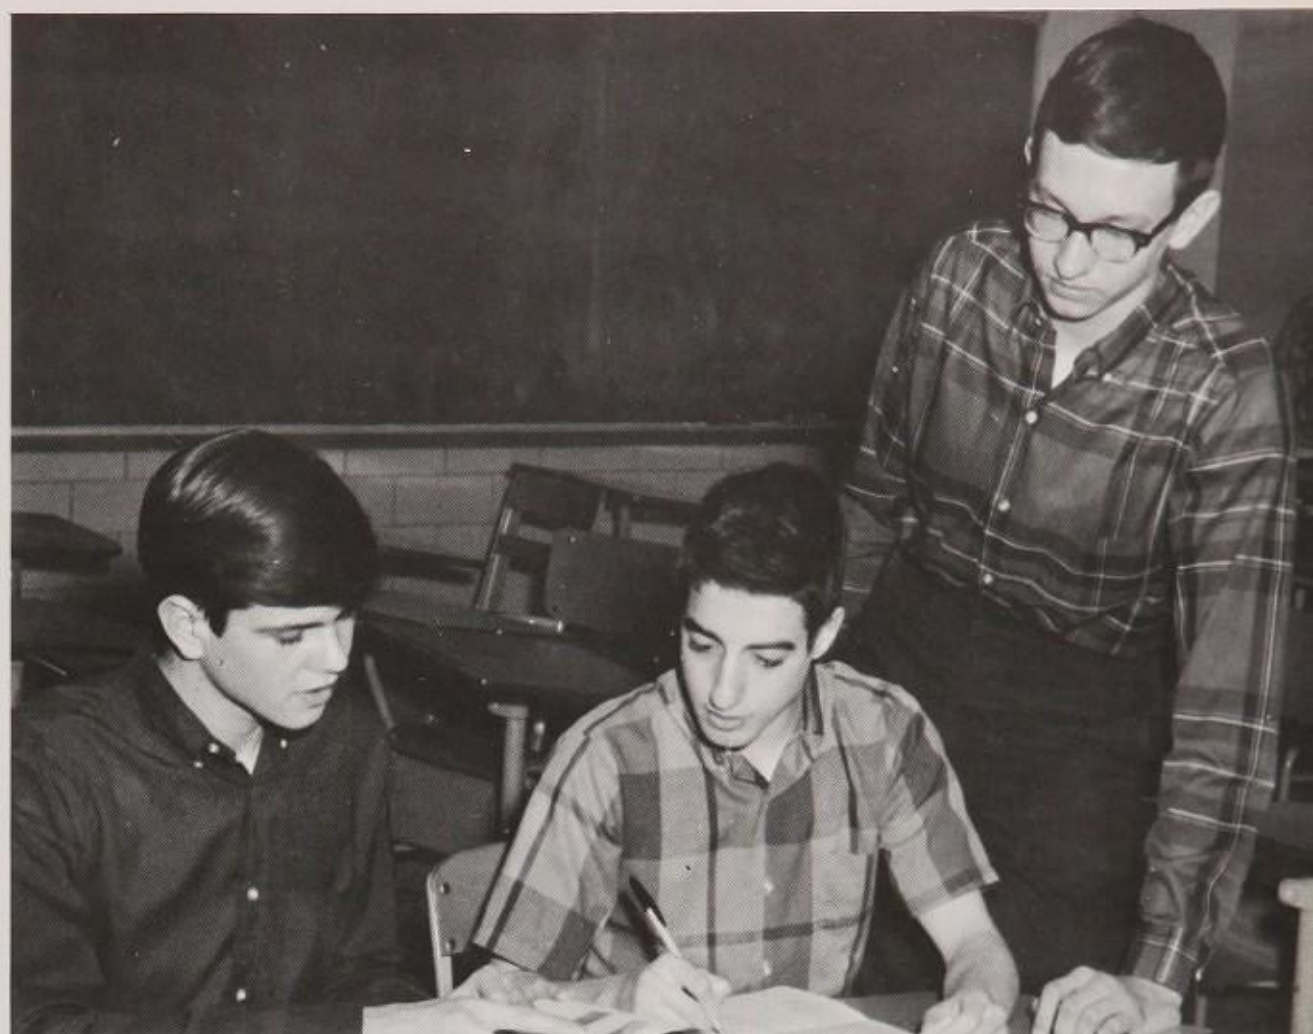

Martin Cohen and President Daniel Colton record scores during a bridge tournament between Northwood and Walter Johnson.

At a Bridge Club meeting, Bob Chambre peeks at the hand held by his partner Steve Silverman as Don Gorelick and Howard Forman plan their next move.

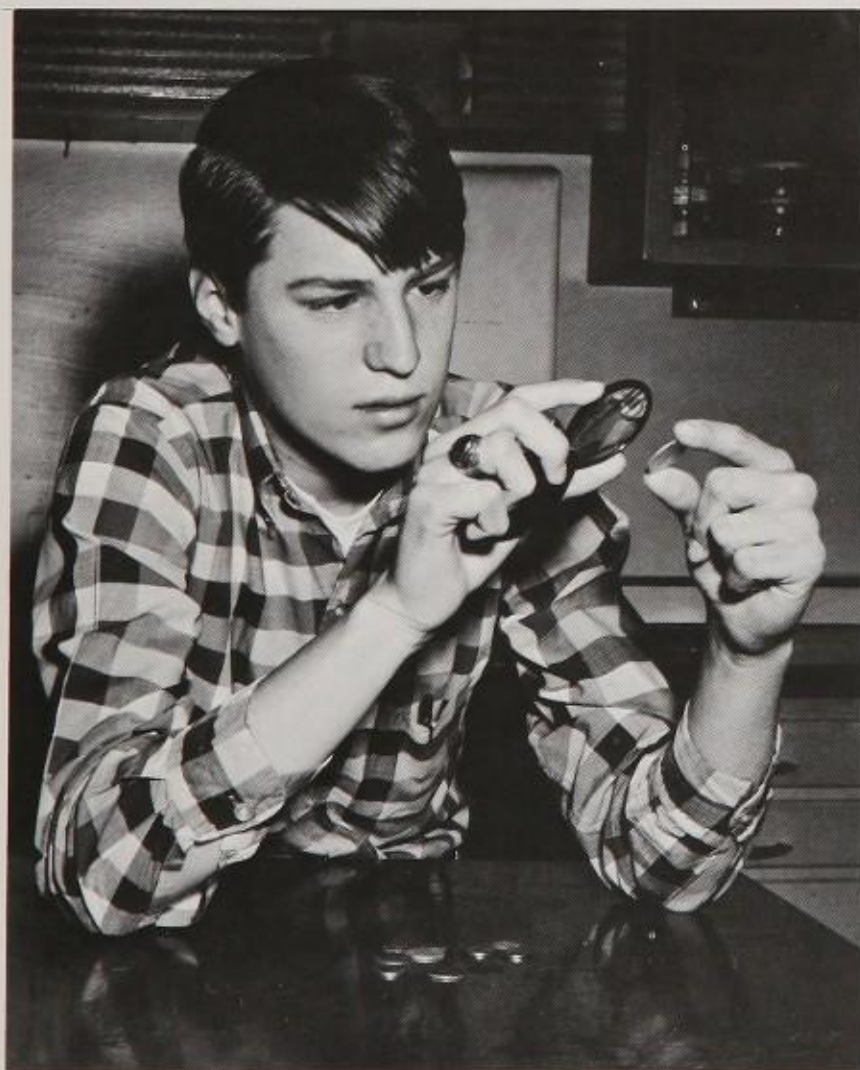

Showing his stamp album to fellow members of the Stamp and Coin Club Louis Umanski and Frank Walker, Charles Conway points out an unusual stamp that he recently added to his collection.

During a chess match, David Cohn and David Saha, president of the Chess Club, study the board to plan their strategy as Joe Chiang moves to defeat sophomore Donn Burkness.

Clubs Promote Many Specialized Hobbies

Bridge Club offered an opportunity for card enthusiasts to practice at weekly club meetings and to compete in bridge tournaments against other County high schools.

Chess Club members matched wits with fellow members. In addition, outstanding members participated in intra-school chess meets.

Through the Stamp and Coin Club, members studied each other's collections. They also traded both stamps and coins to enlarge their own collections.

During a meeting of the Stamp and Coin Club Rand Ledermann examines a collection of American money in hopes of finding a rare coin.

Sponsor of the newly-formed Rifle Club, Mr. Ian Shaw, gives helpful advice on shooting to Steve Brunn and Linda Robinson.

Clubs Offer Training In Varied Hobbies

Created this year, the Rifle Club offered students the opportunity to learn about rifles and rifle safety and to improve their marksmanship. Under the sponsorship of Mr. Ian Shaw members practiced weekly at Montgomery Blair's rifle range. The Director of Civilian Marksmanship, affiliated with the United States Army, provided the club with rifles, ammunition, and targets.

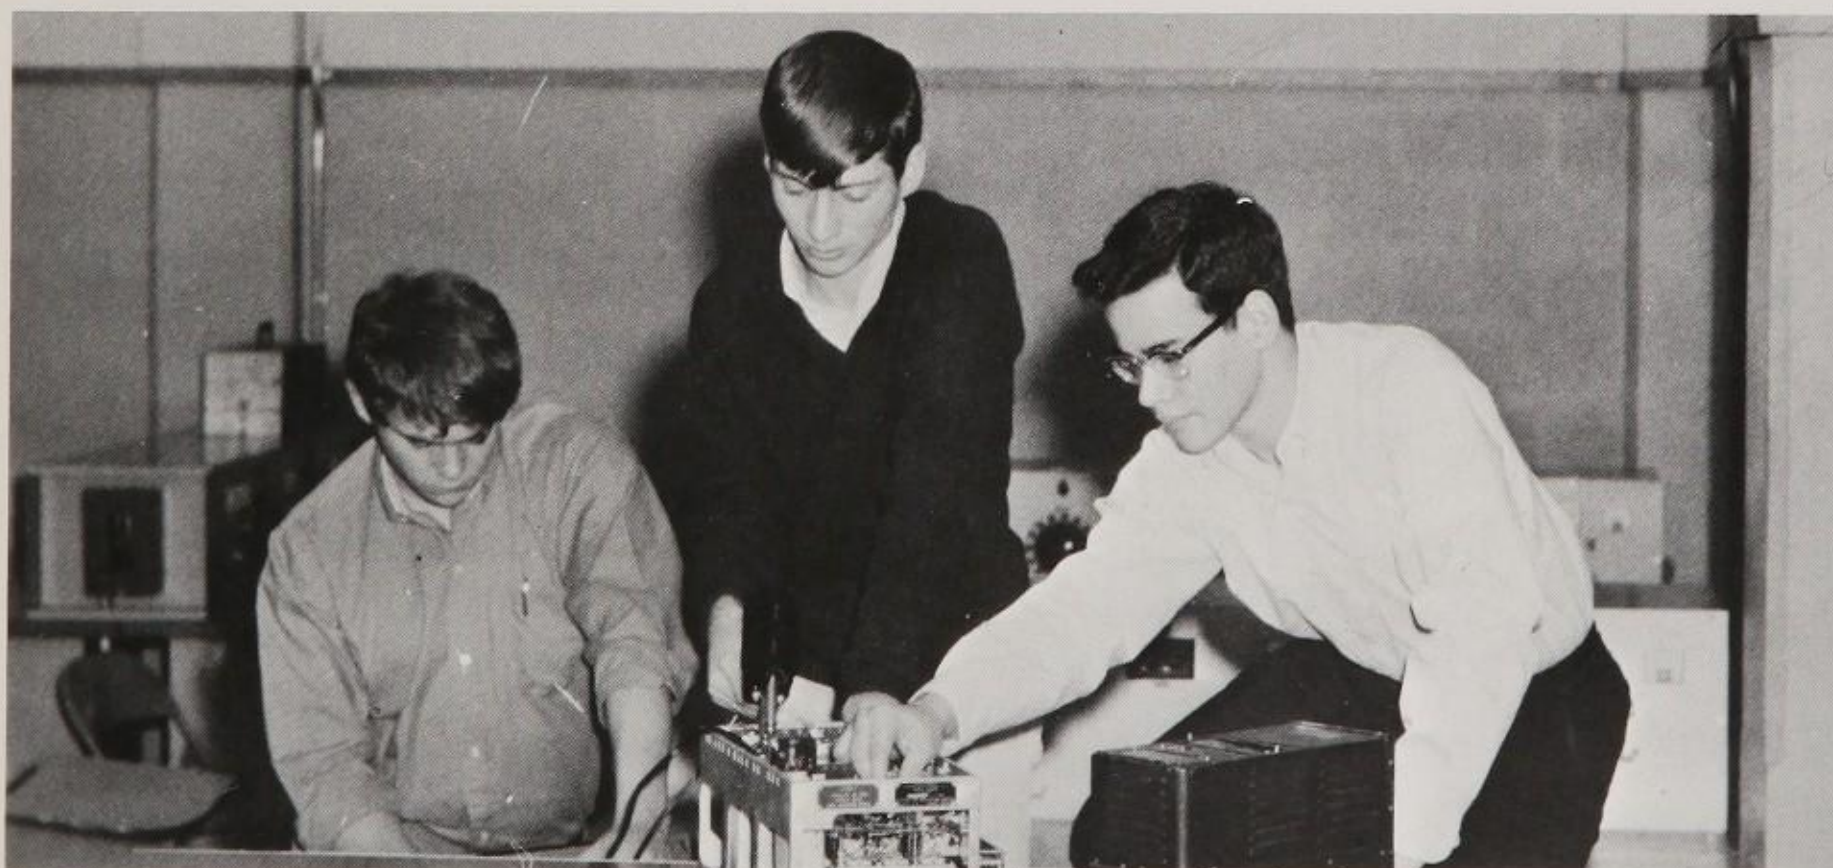

Members of the Amateur Radio Operators Club devoted their meetings to learning how to use and to repair radio equipment and various electrical devices.

At an evening practice session at Blair High School, Rifle Club members Jim Kresge and Dick Leis strive to improve their target shooting.

Ham radio operators Andy Tepper, Allan Dietemann, and Fred Goodman practice operating their radio transmitters.

During a meeting, Radio Operators Club members David Risik, Kenneth Golkin, and Stanley Metelits repair damaged electrical equipment.

In the Northwood library Deborah Gelfeld, a member of the Library Club, checks the call numbers of the history books before shelving them.

Staff members Sandra Greenberg, Lynn Gershenson, Beth Blacksins, Mike Lewis, Mitch Kolkun, Nora Dudwick, and John Spiegel consider entries for "Reflections."

Audio-Visual members Bill Leader and Marty Weinstein load an amplifier onto a cart while Robert Anderson prepares to take a projector to a classroom.

Students Augment Daily English Class

Throughout the year, library aides, members of the Library Club, worked assisting the librarians by cataloging books, distributing library materials, and helping students in their selection of books.

Operating, delivering, and maintaining projectors and screens, Audio-Visual Club members provided an integral part of the library services.

Reflections, Northwood's literary magazine, was a compilation of the best original student works submitted during the year. Under the sponsorship of Miss Dorothy Schmiedeler, the staff selected outstanding poems, essays, and art work for the publication.

Adding to the Christmas spirit, library aide Lois Goldberg, a senior, drapes a string of silver tinsel around the Library Club's colorful Christmas tree.

Band and Majorettes Spark School Spirit

Directed by Mr. Charles Sickafus, the Northwood High School Band entertained both the school and the community at assemblies and concerts. For the fifth consecutive year, the band won the Silver Spring Merchant's Award for the best marching band in the Washington Metropolitan area.

During the football season, band periods were spent practicing drills and selections for pre-game shows and halftime activities. The Majorettes joined the band during halftime as Drum Major Dale Marcks led both the band and the majorettes through their formations.

Spring practice time was devoted to music played at the Spring Concert. Culminating the year, the band played at the commencement exercises.

Carefully concentrating on their music and Mr. Sickafus's directions, Bill Leader and Steve McCoy practice in preparation for the Spring Concert.

Orchestra Maintains Excellent Tradition

Orchestra members met for one period each day to improve their skills and their understanding of music. Directed by Mr. Charles Sickafus they perfected selections including the intermezzo from "Goyaccas" by Granados and "Concerto Grosso" by Vivaldi. The orchestra also presented a Christmas Concert, a Spring Concert, and a program in March for the student body.

To introduce young students to orchestral music, the orchestra played for classes from neighboring elementary schools.

An innovation this year was the formation of a Brass Choir, a combination of brasses from the band and the orchestra of Northwood.

Steve Baum, Rick Schutz, and Jeff Cardos practice an orchestra selection as Mattie Straus studies his drum music to learn his part.

Choir Entertains Through Self-Expression

Under the direction of Mr. Paul Wenhold, Northwood's Concert Choir performed at assemblies and evening concerts. Choir members were chosen on the basis of voice quality and ability to sight-read music. During the year, Concert Choir presented musical programs for area elementary school children and sang at Choral Day at the University of Maryland.

Sixteen students selected from the Concert Choir composed the Madrigal Singers. Specializing in songs of the Renaissance period, the group sang for the school and the community. In March, they entertained residents of the Georgetown Home for the Aged.

Under the direction of Mr. Paul Wenhold and accompanied by Nancy Peregrim, the Concert Choir sings "Choose Something Like a Star" by Randall Thompson.

CONCERT CHOIR: First row—C. Weissenberg, B. Callander, C. McClenny, N. Nash, E. Ritchie, B. Saunders, J. Hesson, B. Watkins, J. Dodge, R. Ellison, K. Smith, W. Garson. Second row—M. Mr. Paul Wenhold, choir director, energetically conducts a rehearsal of Concert Choir in preparation for the annual Christmas concert.

Red and Black Keeps Students Informed

In a spare moment during sixth period, News Editor Beth Blacksin reads Miss Mary Lee Ruddle's comments about the March issue of the Red and Black.

Issued every two weeks, the Red and Black covered all major school activities during the year. Supplemented with informative pictures, features and human interest stories emphasized the light side of student life. Sporting events and news stories were given thorough coverage by staff members. Completing the format, editorials and student letters provided Northwood students with opportunities to express their opinions.

Upholding tradition, the newspaper received a first place rating from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, an All-American rating from National Scholastic Press Association, and the George H. Gallup and International Honor Award from Quill and Scroll.

To complete the list of assignments for the upcoming newspaper, Barbara Sparks fills in Linda Lundell's name next to "book review."

Feature Editor Geri Ellen Katz consults Co-Editor-in-Chief David Lightman to receive his approval on a museum story that she is writing for the Red and Black.

As the newspaper deadline draws near, Marilyn Brezil, Nora Dudwick, and Mona Friedlander work after school to get their stories ready for the printer.

Yearbook Records

Northwood Experience

Organization of the 1967 Arrowhead began in March, 1966, with the selection of new staff members. Planning and training during the summer enabled the actual yearbook production to get under way as soon as school began.

Tasks of writing copy, drawing layouts, and taking and selecting pictures challenged the imagination of the staff. Careful consideration went into the choice of the design and color for this year's cover.

Highlighting the year, members of the yearbook staff attended the October and March conventions of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association which were held in New York City.

Working together, Barbara Watkins and Layout Editor Susan Abraham gratefully finish the last layout for the Senior Section of the 1967 Arrowhead.

Sports

Sports and the spirit of athletic competition draw the students of Northwood together. The students have an opportunity to compete on varsity and junior varsity teams and to participate in the intramural program. The spirit generated by intramural and inter-school athletic competition and the support given teams by the students is an exciting and enjoyable aspect of the Northwood experience.

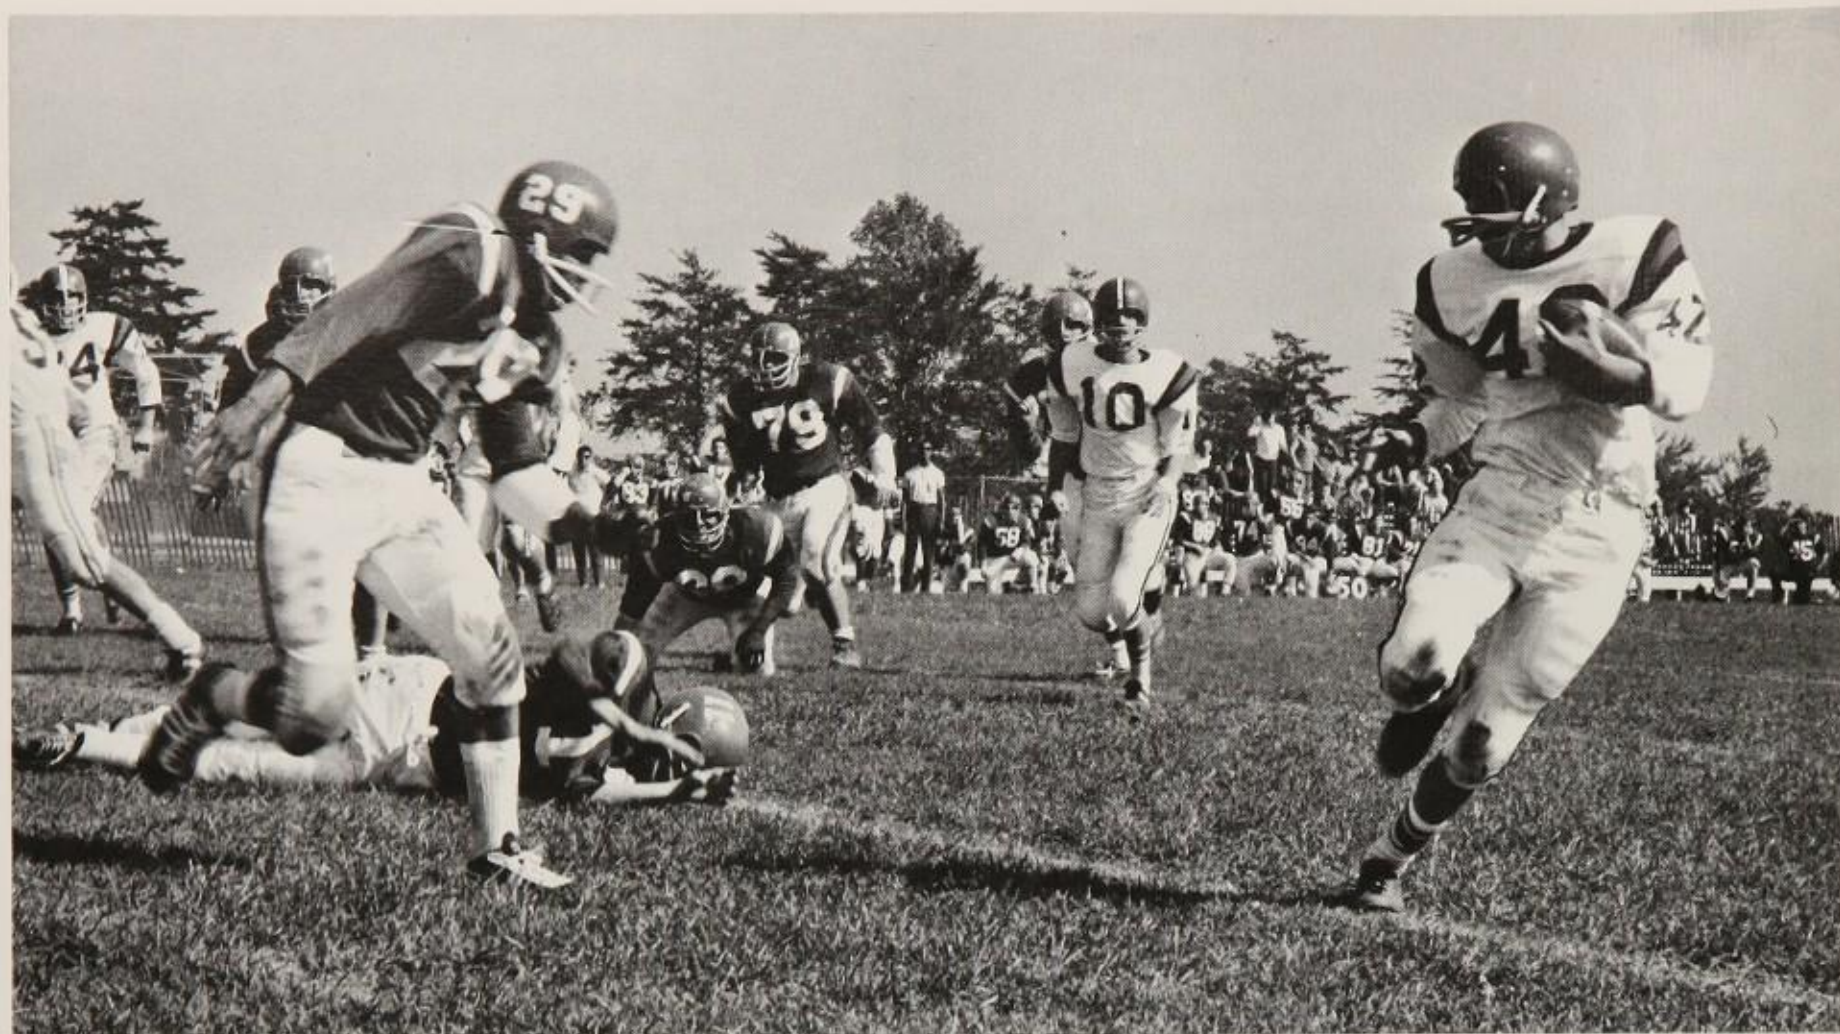

Gymnastic team members Gary Delano, Lennie Gross, Scotty Howard and Ann Pokras act as spotters as Cynthia White tries a new stunt on the trampoline.

Ron Shorb grabs a short screen pass from quarterback Ron McDowell, number 10, weaves away from an opposition player, and dashes for 15 yards.

Top offensive player, Al Smith is tackled hard while trying to gain a first down.

End Ron Shorb outruns his interference as Jeff Hamblen attempts to knock out a defense man.

Gridders Start—End Season With Victory

Northwood's varsity football team began the season with a win against Wheaton. After a seven-game losing streak, the Indians bounced back to win the Homecoming game against Blair.

Halfback Ron Shorb led the team in four categories: interceptions, punt returns, kickoff returns, and number of quarters played. Despite an injury that kept him out of five games, halfback Al Smith was the team's leading rusher. End Bill Mathis, Ron Shorb, and Al Smith each made two touchdowns to tie as top scorer. Jim Leasure was the Indians' leading kicker.

Halfback Al Smith breaks away from a Peary tackler to gain long yardage.

The Tribe's number one pass receiver, Ronny Shorb, dives to his knees in order to save a pass at the season's first game, held at Wheaton High's stadium.

Indians End Season On Happy Note

After much promise for a successful season, injuries limited the Indians to a 2-8 season. A victory against Wheaton in the first game aroused much optimism in the school. Then, a long series of injuries hurt the team's performance for the remainder of the season. Among the injured were many of Northwood's leading players including: Ron Shorb, Al Smith, Pete Hyder, Vince McGugan, and Doug Pierce. Despite the injuries, the Indians never gave up hope of victory.

Highlighting the season was halfback Ron Shorb. Ron led in interceptions, pass receiving, and kick-off returns. He also played in 32 of the 40 quarters played this season. Leading in touchdowns were end Bill Mathis, and halfbacks Al Smith and Ron Shorb, each with two touchdowns. Al Smith was also leading rusher with a total of 283 yards. Other highlights included: leading kicker, Jim Leasure; and leading passer, Ron McDowell. McDowell did 42% of all passing for 382 yards.

The season ended on a happy note, when after a great pep rally at which Coach DeMoss gave a stirring speech, the team fought their way to victory against Blair during Homecoming.

With excellent blocking protection from Jim Leasure to aid him, Vince McGugan darts through a hole in the Perry defense at Northwood's first home game.

Strong Indian Running Attack Leads Offense

Northwood's offense centered on the running of several talented backs. Leading rusher for the Indians was halfback Al Smith, who, despite an injury that limited his action to the first four games, gained 283 yards and two touchdowns. Close behind him in the statistics was Ron Shorb, who carried the brunt of the rushing attack in the last three games. Vince McGugan also gained much yardage for the Indians until an injury sidelined him. Expected rushing support from Pete Hyder, and Doug Pierce was limited because of injuries.

As a Spartan closes in, Ron Shorb pushes toward the first down marker.

Quarterback Danny Worsley eludes the entire Peary front line before completing a pass for a first down.

Leading Indian pass receiver Ron Shorb makes a shoestring grab of a pass for a crucial gain against Blair.

Brad Krassner, the team's leading runner, completes a long gain.

Little Indians

Win County Title

The Little Indians finished a remarkable season by capturing the Montgomery County Junior Varsity Championship. Aided by the capable coaching of Jerry Sisson, the JV ended with a perfect record of eight wins and no losses.

The '67 JV team deserves much credit for being Northwood's best yet and for being its first county champions. Steve Downey lead in pass receiving with twelve reactions for a total of 160 yards. Interceptions were headed by Halfback Bob Hemsley who caught seven of the opposition's aerals. Leading in rushing was Brad Krassner. Brad gained 616 yards in 63 carries. In the pass attempt department, Quarterback Richard Comer completed 34 passes out of 56 attempts.

Gymkhana Team Takes Five Gold Medals

Northwood's gymkhana team, coached by Mr. James Holland, enjoyed a winning season. Ending the season with a record of six victories and one defeat, Northwood placed among the top teams in Montgomery County.

In the county-wide meet at Einstein, Northwood team members captured two second-place and three third-place medals. Among the outstanding gymnasts of this year's team were seniors Scotty Howard in tumbling, Kathy Earle on the balance beam, and Bonny Metting on the vaulting box. Juniors who gave excellent performances were Mark Musy on the parallel bars, and Linda Meyers on the uneven parallel bars, a new piece of girl's apparatus.

At the conclusion of the regular season, the team presented their annual show, "Kaleidoscope in Color," which displayed all aspects of gymnastics.

Northwood Debuts First Soccer Team

Northwood's first soccer team played its opening matches in high school competition under the name of "The Boid du Nord Cercle Football". Under the leadership of senior Ken Labowitz, the BNCF was organized and played its matches without official school support. Facing the Virginia state champions Washington-Lee of Arlington, the BNCF showed its lack of experience in losing, 8-1 and 7-0, in two games played in January.

The BNCF showed much promise in the improvement in its players. Leading scorers for the team were forward Paul Herman and wing Vic Habib. Other leading players on the offense were seniors Lou Trotta, Mark Lipp, Jim Hill, B. Ulino and Dave Tate and juniors Brad Russell and Lou Winnser. At halfback, seniors Francis Wyman, Richard Steiner, and Joe Golibart, plus juniors John Potts and Chris Dedes, contributed to both offensive and defensive play. Fullbacks Dave Kuzminsky, Ken Labowitz and Keith Van Ness assisted goalies Tom Peacock and Danny Riesenber.

Cross Country Team Places Ninth in County

Northwood's cross country team ran a successful season this year. Coach Grimsley urged the harriers on to a 9th place finish in the county meet at which all the county teams participated. At the annual Wakefield Invitational, the Indians took 13th place in a field of 22 teams. With top runners such as seniors Pete Dunnigan, Joe Gonzales, and Russ Woolard, and juniors Charlie Howell and Harold Thompson, Northwood was able to outrun such teams as Peary and Einstein. Top harrier this year was junior Charlie Knupp. Charlie finished well in both the county and state meets. The state meet held in Catonsville, Maryland, finished off the season for the Indians. Northwood finished 17 out of a total of 28 teams from throughout the state. Several of the team's top runners will return next year to improve their running skills.

Wrestlers Muscle Way To Tournament Victory

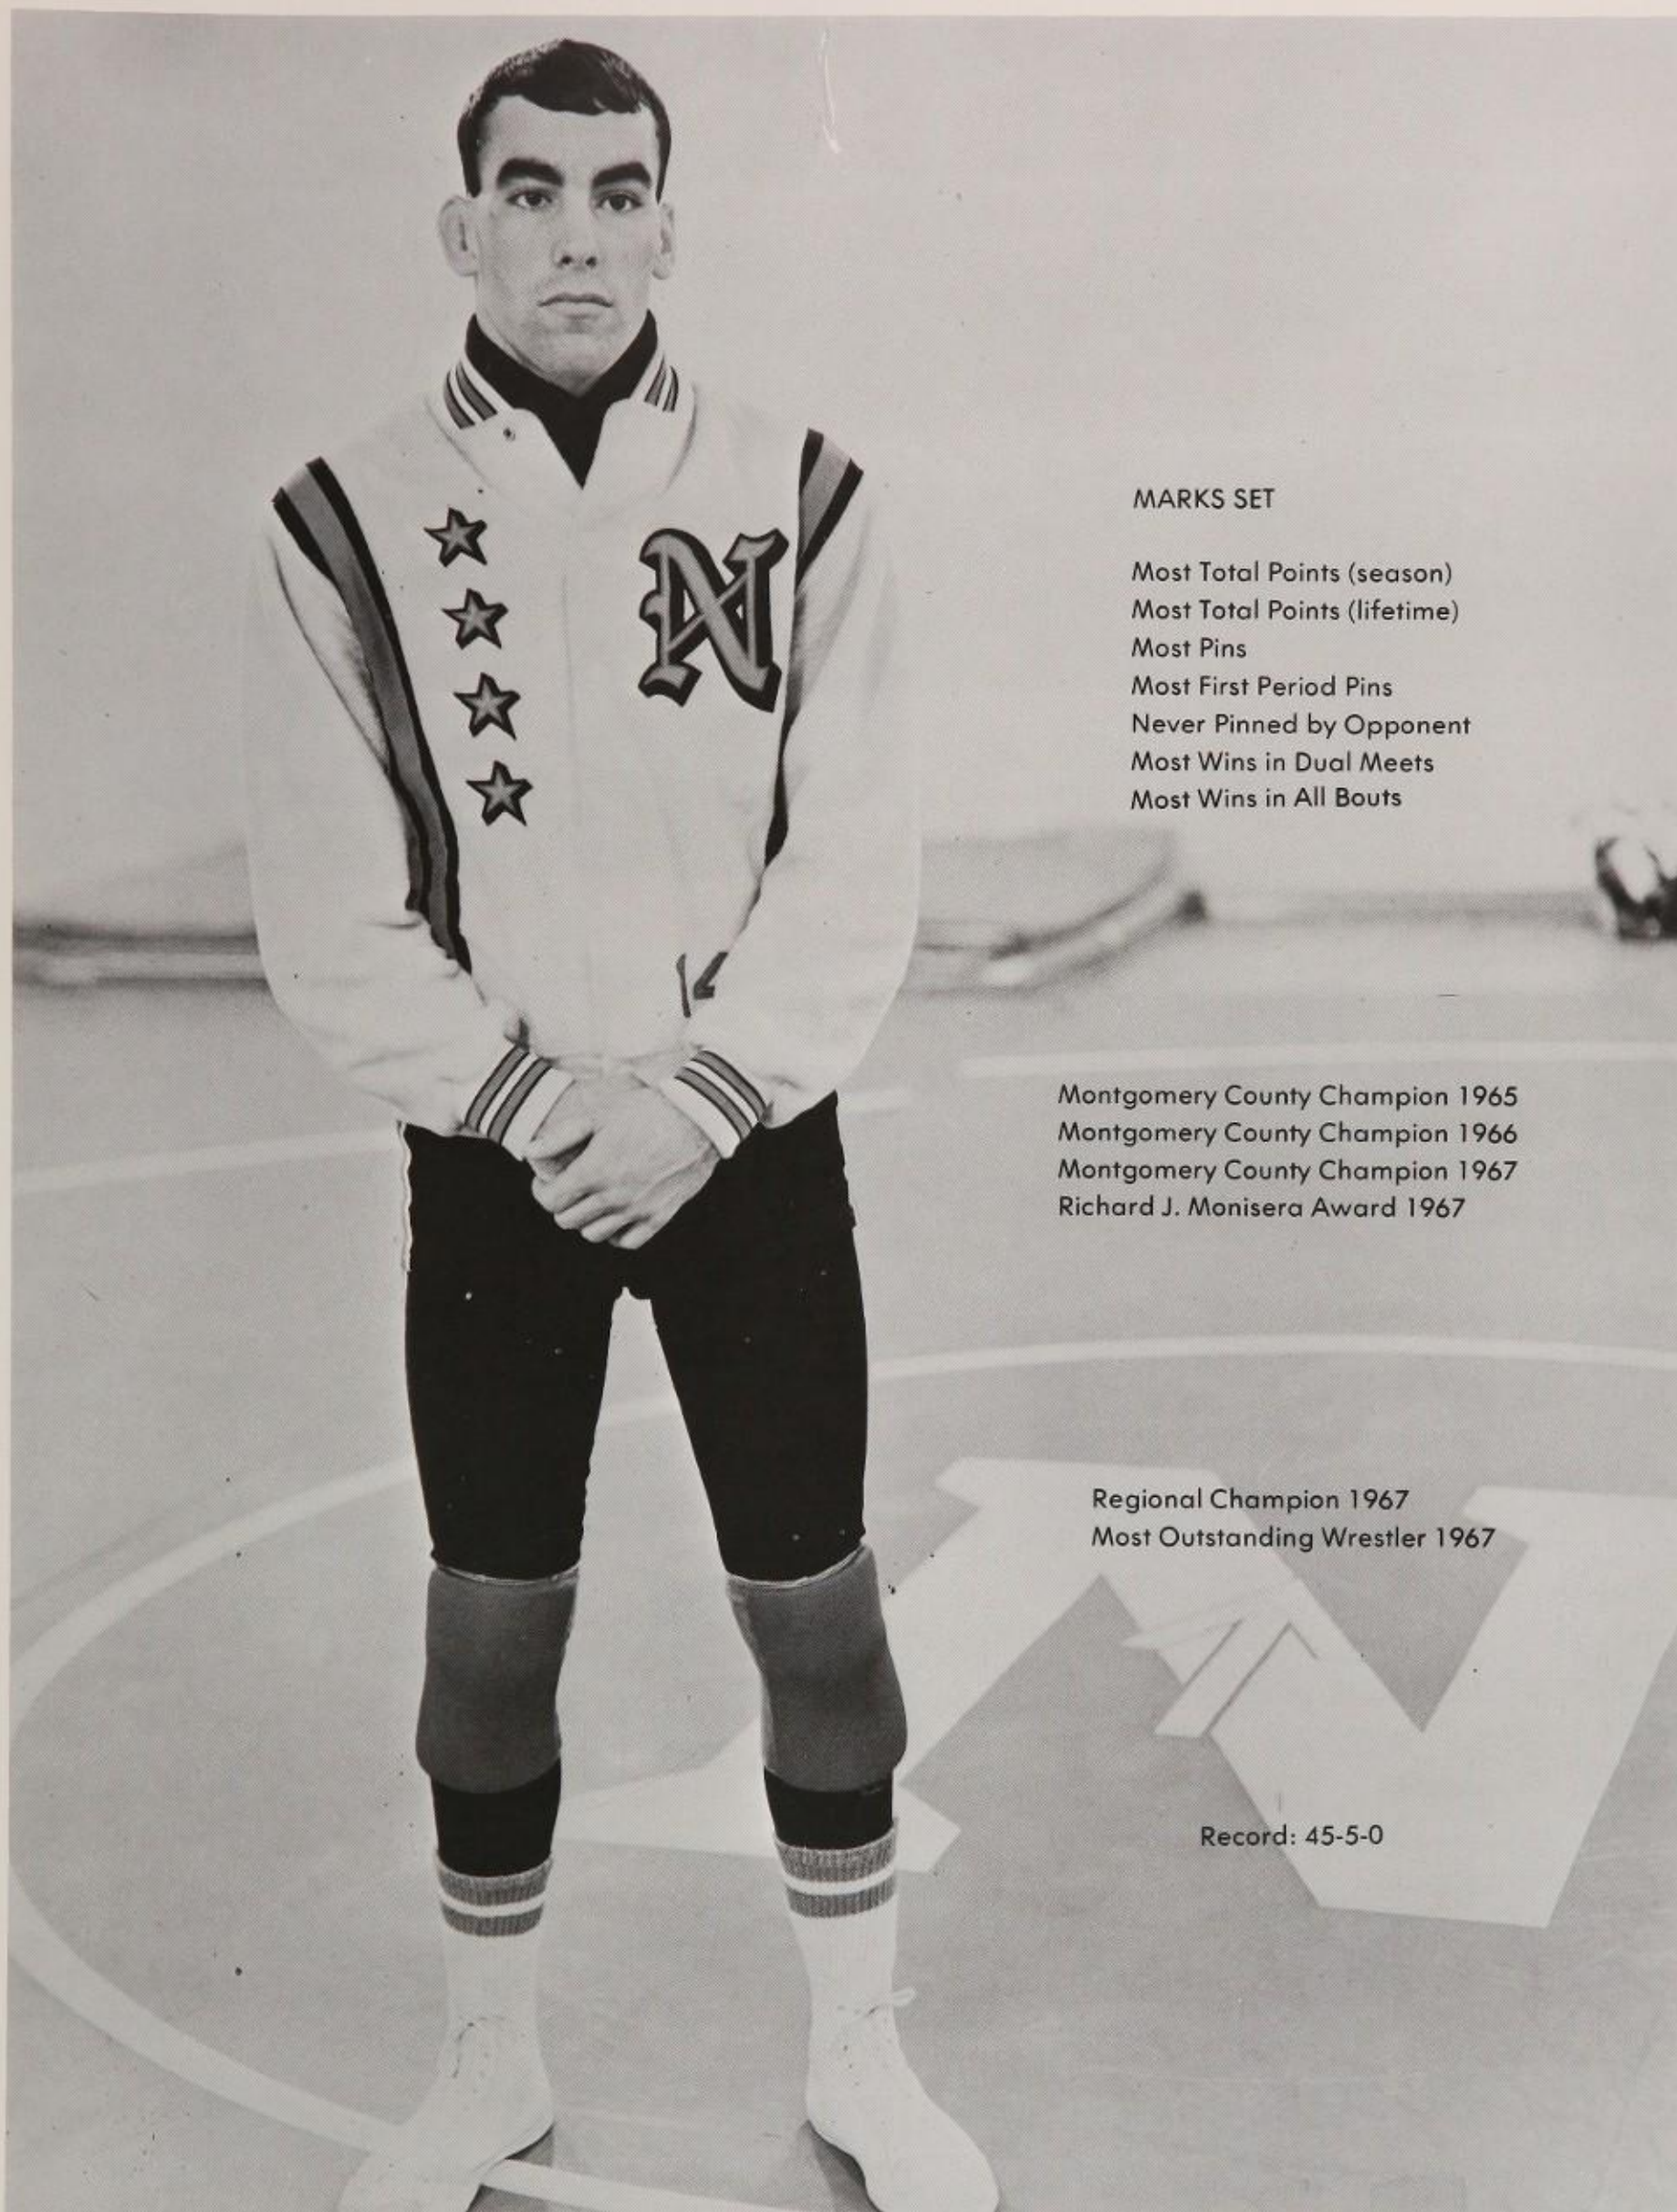

Northwood's 1967 wrestling team grappled their way through the school's most successful season. After a narrow loss to Gaithersburg, the Indians fought back to compile a 9-1 record and tie for the dual meet title. Butch Hilliard, Greg Hunt, Steve Baum, and Mark Perry finished the regular season with unblemished records.

In the county tournament, Northwood overwhelmed all opposition to gain the county title. NHS placed eleven men in the semi-finals and finished with three champions: Rick Ackermann, Greg Hunt, and Mark Perry. Tim Momyer, Jerry Consuegra, and Steve Baum placed second. Third place went to Jim Taylor and Stan Goldfarb. Vic Ciccone, Butch Hilliard, and Richard Kent finished in fourth place. Hunt received the second annual Richard J. Monisera Award for compiling the most team points in county competition during his high school career.

Living up to expectations, Northwood matmen swept the bi-county tournament with three champions: Hunt, Consuegra, and Perry. Other Northwood finishers were Kent, second, Goldfarb, third, Ackermann, fourth, and Momyer, fourth.

Undefeated in the regular season, Steve Baum trips out his Wheaton foe.

Opposition Proves Tough For Varsity Cagers

Senior Dale Marcks out-jumps his Sherwood opponent's block for two points.

Although again plagued by lack of height, the Northwood cagers scored well against many teams with a definite height advantage. Close team work helped top scorers such as senior Gary Cross and junior Steve Meiklejohn. Cross, who ranked among the top ten scorers in the county, made a total of 369 points for the team. He was also top rebounder as well as number one foul shooter with a total of 71 foul shots made in 119 attempts. In the final game of the season against Walt Whitman, although playing in only three quarters, Gary scored 25 points. Carrying on the tradition, Steve Meiklejohn was a top scorer. With 147 season points, Steve ranked second only to Cross. Seniors Dale Marcks and Gary Morris and junior Vince McGugan did much to aid the team in the season's always close games.

VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM: S. Meiklejohn, D. Eddy, J. O'Neil, B. Kleinknecht, G. Morris, B. Regotti, J. Paulson, D. Marcks, G. Cross, D. Metelits, V. McGugan, J. Leaf, J. Heller.

Junior Cagers Take Eastern Division Title

Northwood's junior varsity basketball team enjoyed a successful season. By compiling a 17-3 record, the little Indians won the battle for first place in the Eastern Division of the County League. The team's accomplishments during the season earned them the right to meet Richard Montgomery's junior Rockets for the county title but met defeat in a hard-fought contest.

Led by forwards Joe Kraut, who scored a team high 225 points for the year, and Mike McGugan, who scored 203 points, the junior cagers closed their season with a string of ten victories.

Varsity Thinclads Aim For Top Distances

Northwood's traditionally strong track team finished with another winning season this year. In the triangular meet against High Point and Good Counsel, Northwood finished first with 71 points over the second place finish of High Point with 61. In the weight events, the Indians were strong with the able shot putting of seniors Monte Greenbaum, Bruce Wyman, and Bill Mathis. Bruce was also outstanding in the discus event. Senior Ronny Shorb did well in three running events. Ron ran in two sprints as well as the low hurdles. Seniors John Jacobs, Phil Hayes, and Keith Slicer, and junior John Meckler made up the tracksters top mile relay team. Fine pole vaulting form was shown by senior Jeff Hamblen who took several first places in the event. Senior Don Kirkendall and junior Tim McAfee brought honors to Northwood in the high jump event. In the Montgomery County relays held at Peary, the tracksters finished eighth out of nine other Class AA teams.

Indians Strike Out Baseball Opponents

Northwood's baseball team finished this year with one of their most successful seasons yet. With the able coaching of Coach Hogue, the Indians fought for first place in the county. Hard hitting and able fielding helped the sluggers win in their drive for victory. With hard hitters such as senior John Parker, who drove in 7 runs during the Springbrook game, Northwood was able to beat some of the county's top teams. Other top sluggers were seniors Wayne Shenk and Gary Cross. In the pitching department, sophomore Mike McGugan did an outstanding job as relief pitcher for his brother Vince McGugan. Mike pitched 5 innings in the Sherwood game to chalk up a victory for Northwood. One of the highlights of the season was Northwood's home game against Damascus in which the Indians put away the Hornets 19-2. Pitcher Vince McGugan limited the Hornets to only four hits, while the Indians collected 14 hits.

Linksters Drive For Low Course Scores

The varsity netmen climaxed a successful season by capturing the county championship. Led by the strong volleying of seniors Dave Metelits and Tom McCabe, the team compiled an impressive list of victories. Junior John Spiegel, number two man, was a standout, and seniors Dan McCabe and Rich Greenhouse led the doubles team.

Finishing with a 1-7 record, the golf team was in the process of rebuilding. After the loss of four of last year's starters to graduation, the team faced tough competition and battled to close defeats. Led by junior Mike Shpur, the team showed much promise for a successful 1968 season, with many boys gaining needed experience.

Competitive Sports Provides Enjoyment

After-school activities provided girls with an opportunity to participate in athletics. Basketball, field hockey, volleyball, archery, and tennis were sponsored by the Girls' Sports Association, which organized and officiated all games. Girls who showed outstanding ability in intramural sports were selected to participate in sports day competitions with other schools. Comprised of the most skillful players, Northwood's honor team competed with the honor teams of other area high schools. Northwood's honor teams compiled a winning record in competition in the Montgomery County league.

Cheerleaders Urge School Participation

Adding excitement and color to Northwood's athletics, the cheerleaders encouraged school spirit at all games and matches. Through their vivacious enthusiasm, they promoted audience participation at basketball and football games and at wrestling matches. After school practices provided cheerleaders with time to perfect their routines.

Each year girls try out for the cheerleading squad. The candidates are judged on citizenship, personal appearance, cheering ability, and school spirit. After a demonstration of their ability, the new members were announced at the end of April.

Students

Each year at Northwood acquaints students with a different aspect of the Northwood experience. The sophomore year introduces the students to high school customs and traditions. Juniors take an active role in school organizations and activities. Seniors lead the school while arranging for college entrance or a job position for the following year. Together the classes create the Northwood experience.

Sophomores Begin Their Northwood Years

Before the official opening of school, a Sophomore Orientation introduced the Class of 1969 to Northwood. The orientation provided an opportunity for sophomores to accustom themselves to high school quickly and begin their Northwood experience.

Clubs and athletic activities allowed sophomores to become active at Northwood. Sophomores participated in the Student Government Association and voiced their opinions in student affairs.

In the fall, under the direction of Miss Snipe, the sophomore class elected their officers. They held a gym night, a bake sale at a P.T.A. meeting, and a dance, appropriately named, The Happening, making their first year at Northwood a rewarding experience.

Chas Stuart and Steve Cafilisch estimate the profits of the Junior Class activities during the year while Alice Pelecanos and Terry Mahon take notes.

Juniors Support Community Projects

With energy and enthusiasm the Class of 1968 participated in activities designed to broaden the interests of Northwood students. The Gym Nite-Slave Auction, bake sales for the adult education classes, and the Junior Class play, "Ah, Wilderness!," proved to be profitable and beneficial experiences.

The Junior Prom, set for the first time outside of Northwood, was held in the Fiesta Room of the Sheridan Park Motel, marking a new trend in Northwood tradition.

Juniors assumed leadership positions in activities and committees. In Student Government, publications, athletics and organizations, the Class of 1968 demonstrated initiative and imagination in the completion of their activities.

Senior class officers Ron Bittner, Mike Pritt, Linda Trofast, and Robin Schilthuis discuss arrangements for the trip to Expo '67 in Montreal, Canada.

Seniors Blend News and Annual Activities

To supplement the traditional senior activities, the Class of 1967 added several new projects to the year's calendar. The Four Seasons' concert held at John F. Kennedy High School, the first event of its kind to be sponsored by a class at Northwood, highlighted the month of October. During the Christmas season, seniors organized the successful "Gifts for Teens" drive for the D. C. Welfare Board. The senior class trip to Expo '67 in Montreal, Canada, provided the several hundred travelers with the opportunity to visit the fair for two full days. In addition seniors enjoyed annual activities, such as the class play, 1984, Turnabout Day, the banquet at Peter Pan Inn, and the senior prom. Ending the year on a serious note, the Class of '67 was graduated on June 19 at Cole Field House.

Personalized Service • No Job Too Small

Cathy Loflin and Virginia Chittenden show their enthusiasm for homecoming week by decorating a cafeteria window with crepe paper fetters.

Senior Allan Eisen lies quietly on one of the cots set up for donors in the cafeteria as he gives a pint of blood to the Montgomery County Bloodmobile.

At a track meet between Northwood and Northwestern high schools, Russ Woolard and Charles Knupp maintain a running lead over their opponent.

Northwood's Effects Shape Future Lives

Leaving Northwood in June to enjoy their varied summer projects, students remembered the friends, the teachers, and the experiences of their past year. For seniors, memories of the newly-completed Northwood Experience blended with aspirations for college or a job. For juniors and sophomores the experience will continue; their memories providing a preface for their further growth. As the year ended, each student who paused to reflect on his Northwood Experience, realized its immediate, and consequently future effects on his life.

Sporting a beret, Mrs. Margaret Boone ladles hot chocolate into a cup for her fourth period French class to have with bread and cheese.

*Northwood Gracious Alma Mater
we thy name revere,
May thy Loyal Students ever hold thy allegiance dear.
Grateful, Faithful, True we'll be
following your guiding star
May we never fail to honor thy name both near and far.*
